Civil War Threat Grows as Ex-Premier Eludes Pursuers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo's capital, said Lumumba's escape from the (AP) — Congolese army troops guarded villa obviously was pre-searched the African quarter of the capital today, hunting for ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Mobutu's chances of tracking down the ex-premier were regarded as very slim.

The army chief alerted troops along the Congo River, apparently thinking Lumumba might try to make Stanleyville by river boat.

Would Create Problem

The United Nations has been pressing Mobutu to reconvene parliament, suspended since his military takeover on Sept. 14, in Leopoldville.

If Lumumba succeeded in gathering a parliamentary quorum in Stanleyville to reconvene him as prime minister, he would place the U.N. Congo mission in a serious quandary.

Parliament in the past, with many members absent, has given Lumumba majorities.

The provincial government in Leopoldville, capital of Oriental province, has remained faithful to Lumumba and probably would give him a hero's welcome.

FBI Arrests Marrone as Kidnap Suspect

Wanted Man Seized At Intersection In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — FBI agents converged on a startled Frank Marrone at a Los Angeles intersection early today and arrested him in the kidnaping a week ago of wealthy sportsman Anthony Alessio.

The FBI said Marrone, 31, a convicted murderer with a long police record, was unarmed and offered no resistance. His first comment, agents related, was: "I knew the FBI was smart but I've never seen so many in one place."

The agents said Marrone — driving his own 1953 automobile — carried currency identified as part of the $200,000 ransom paid by the Alessio family to secure his release.

Kidnaped Last Tuesday

Alessio, 41, abducted from in front of his fashionable San Diego home last Tuesday, was found unharmed later in a San Diego motel. He is executive director of the Caliente race track in Baja California. The track is believed to be owned by the Alessio family.

A widespread search for Marrone commenced after the FBI arrested his wife, Selma, 25, and another couple in Hollywood last Friday. Agents recovered $77,900 of the ransom money at that time.

Don Keller, San Diego county district attorney, said last night he planned to file formal kidnap charges against the three today. The other two are James R. Gorman, 29, identified as an escaped convict also wanted for a $15,000 Huntington Park, Calif., market robbery, and Gorman's wife, Ruby, 30.

Marrone was also slated to be

Snow, Cold Swept Into State by Severe Winds

Superior Area Hardest Hit; Storm Warnings Issued for Great Lakes

A howling wind storm sweeping out of the north roared over Wisconsin today bringing snow and freezing temperatures to areas that 24 hours earlier basked in some of the mildest weather of the fall.

The storm drove into the state Monday in the Superior area, battered by winds of better than 70 m.p.h. and almost a half a foot of snow.

By early today wintry weather had an icy grip on all of the state, still being battered by high winds. Storm warnings remained up for the Great Lakes, forecasting full gale winds of 55 m.p.h. and up for Lakes Michigan and Superior.

Canadian Train Hits School Bus; 16 Feared Dead

LAMONT, Alta. (AP) — A Canadian National Railways train struck a loaded school bus here today. A school official said about half the 32 children aboard were killed.

The crash came in subzero weather at a grade crossing a quarter mile from the railroad station of Lamont, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, Alberta's capital.

Harry Sharuk, chairman of the Lamont School Board, gave the estimate that half the children died. Others were injured.

The wreckage was carried down the track into the town itself and the victims were strewn along the right-of-way.

Frank Butney, driver of the bus, survived.

M. Woycenko, secretary-treasurer of the school division, said the train—a through freight—struck the bus "smack in the middle."

He said the students were mainly from the Chipman district, 10 miles southeast of Lamont.

They attended grades 10, 11 and 12.

Assessment of Fund Illegal, Court Holds

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's Supreme Court ruled today the state had no right to assess its Teachers Retirement Fund $18,737 to partially finance a retirement study conducted in 1955-56.

The high court's decision affirmed the finding of Judge Ed-ward J. Connelley that state costs of the study in excess of $10,000. The cost was $38,312.

Kennedy Talks About Federal Job for Bowles

Also Considers Post for Retiring N. Carolina Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy gave a broad indication today that he will offer Chester Bowles a post in the new administration. He also discussed a possible place for retiring Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina.

Bowles, chief foreign policy adviser to Kennedy during the campaign, former ambassador, ex-governor of Connecticut and now a retiring member of congress, has been prominently mentioned as a possible secretary of state. He held a 65-minute breakfast conference with the incoming Democratic president at Kennedy's Georgetown home. Later Kennedy said a job for Bowles was not discussed but added:

"We will be discussing it."

Refuses to Comment

Bowles himself declined to elaborate on what Kennedy had to say. He said he was going to his office to catch up on correspondence.

Arriving at the Kennedy home at 8:55 a.m., Bowles had said he did not know what might be discussed. That was his reply to a question on whether he had been offered an administration job.

"I haven't anything to say. I haven't any comment on anything," he said.

Bowles arrived at a time when the block in which the Kennedy home on "N" Street N. W. was virtually deserted except for

30 Tribesmen Die Trying to Ambush U.N. Nigerians

ELIZABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — U.N. Nigerian troops killed at least 30 rebel tribesmen who tried to ambush them, a Katanga province government spokesman said today.

Eichmann Says He Would Gladly Have Killed 10 Million Jews

Speakers Call for Farmers to Make Decision at Bureau Talks

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — Aggressive cooperative marketing programs for agricultural products were advocated at the Wisconsin Farm Bureau convention Monday.

"Farmers have an important decision to make," declared Prof. Marvin Schaars, nationally known member of the University of Wisconsin's agricultural economics department.

"They must decide very soon whether they are going to have a voice in their market, or remain passive listeners."

Repeated Theme

Similar urgency was expressed by Donald E. Busch, Chicago, assistant commodity director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and by Arny Van Thullenar, Madison, staff member of the American Dairy Assn. of Wisconsin.

Cooperative marketing organizations, the speakers stressed, would have to be strong enough to compete successfully with commercial enterprises. They would Grocery Expert Explains Food Costs to Readers

Sylvia Porter, subject of a special cover story in last week's Time magazine, is on her annual vacation. While she is away, she has arranged for publication of a series of interviews with experts from the world of business and finance.

Today's column should have more than passing interest to Post-Crescent readers, for it explains where the average family's food dollar goes. Based on an interview with Paul S. Willis, president, Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., the article on Page B-12 gives important information on the price spread between what the farmer gets and what you pay in the grocery store.

Auto Accident Brings New Tragedy to 'Queen for Day'

HOLLYWOOD—Hard luck always wins the prize on the long-time daily television series, "Queen for Day."

On Nov. 21 one of the contestants, Mrs. Garlene Cromer, 27, told of her family's misfortune.

Her husband, William, 32, recently went blind. She supported him and their three sons by working as a telephone operator. He tried to help by doing the cooking but found it hard to light a kitchen range with a match. She wanted a range with a pilot light.

Automobile Crash

The audience considered Mrs. Cromer's story the most appealing and she was awarded the range and other prizes.

But Sunday their misfortune turned much worse.

State Farm Bureau Asks for Sales Tax

Delegates to Consider Proposal; Plan Would End Levy on Livestock, Work to Reduce Property Payment

MADISON (AP) — The enactment of a general sales tax in Wisconsin was proposed today in a recommendation prepared for consideration by delegates attending the 41st annual convention of the state's Farm Bureau Federation.

The resolution was drafted by a special committee, and also calls for an end to personal property taxes on livestock and the inventories of merchants and manufacturers.

Revenue from the sales tax should be used to reduce property taxes remaining after livestock and inventory levies are repealed, the resolution said.

The resolution does not offer a sales tax rate but says the tax should be on both sales and services.

Withholding System
Another resolution prepared calls for the Farm Bureau to go on record against adoption of a withholding state income tax collection system in Wisconsin.

An official of the Washington, D. C., office of the organization said Monday that the next session of Congress will have before it programs designed to establish a "farm peasantry" in the United States.

"Nice sounding title and misleading slogans are being used to camouflage the real effect on farmers of some of the programs that will be before Congress in 1961," said John C. Lynn, associate director of the Farm Bureau.

Market Prices
Lynn said that market prices have proved to be the only means of balancing production and consumption. He said the politicians have offered various ineffective

Officials of Union Given Prison Terms

Attorney Protests Action in Indiana Highway Scandals

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two top officials of the Carpenters Union were sentenced to prison in the Indiana highway scandals Monday over the sharp protest of their attorney.

Counsel for Carpenters President Maurice A. Hutcheson and Vice President O. William Blaier filed a motion for a new trial just before special Judge M. Walter Bell sentenced them to 2 to 14 years in prison.

Judge Bell then released the defendants on $5,000 bond each and set arguments for Jan. 4 on their motion for a new trial.

Attorney John A. Royce objected strongly to the sentencing of Hutcheson and Blaier because the judge had not yet ruled on the new trial motion.

Bribed Employee
Hutcheson and Blaier were convicted Oct. 8 of conspiracy and bribery of a state highway department employee in connection with a quick profit of more than $81,000 on highway right-of-way deals in Lake and Wayne counties in 1956.

Judge Bell fined each man $250 and ordered both to pay trial costs. He also barred them from voting or holding public office for five years.

The sentences were mandatory, but the fines could have been any amounts up to $15,000 each.

Judge Bell explained he did not levy the maximum fines because Hutcheson and Blaier paid back to the state their profits from the land deals.

Carpenters Treasurer Frank M. Chapman, convicted with Hutcheson and Blaier, died Nov. 16 in Seattle, Wash.

Royce objected to the disenfranchisement of Hutcheson and Blaier and accused the state of squeezing "the last ounce of a pound of flesh in this case."

If the retrial motion should be denied it could form the basis for an appeal to the Indiana Supreme Court. A pending appeal also would block any action to remove Hutcheson and Blaier as union officials under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Harry O. Doggett, former assistant right-of-way chief of the State Highway Department, faces a charge of accepting bribes from Hutcheson and Blaier.

Seven other men have been convicted in the road scandals.

Kennedy Brisk Walker, Asserts Cold Winded Newsmen Find War Is Now Technological

President-Elect Likes Sail Boating, Hunting, Tennis, Golf, Touch Football

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shades of former President Harry S. Truman—President-elect John F. Kennedy is a walker, and with a brisk pace that leaves newsmen puffing.

Kennedy has other athletic interests that parallel those of several other presidents.

Like President Eisenhower, he is a golfer and a hunter.

As did President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Kennedy loves to go boating.

In the pattern of President Theodore Roosevelt, he is a horseman and a tennis player—a man with a cannonball serve, says an aide the president-elect defeated the other day.

Beyond all these, Kennedy delights in a game of touch football.

Kennedy's interest in a good brisk walk has been coming to light this week.

Late Monday afternoon he strolled at a rapid pace through Georgetown's picturesque streets from his own home to the residence of Dean Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration.

On arrival at Acheson's home, Kennedy jokingly asked panting newsmen whether their blood pressure was up.

Truman used to walk almost every morning, usually with sleepy-eyed reporters and photographers in tow. Today's newsmen have noted that the 43-year-old president-elect doesn't seem to be an early riser, for which they are thankful.

Lamb Decides Not To Attend Confab

MADISON (AP) — Eugene M. Lamb, unsuccessful in his bid for a second term as state treasurer, said Monday that he will not attend a treasurers' convention in San Francisco because of "unfavorable comments."

Lamb said he was referring to adverse publicity in news stories which mentioned he planned to make the trip at state expense.

The expenses for the trip were budgeted some time ago, Lamb said.

"The state treasurer before me was confronted with a similar problem . . . but attended anyway," Lamb said. "I will be the only state treasurer in the United States not attending this convention this year."

Lamb was referring to Mrs. Dena Smith, the Republican state treasurer he defeated in 1958 and who won over him this year.

Request Tightening of Standards Determining Guilt of Drunkenness

AMA Recommends Percentage of .10, Use of Word Intoxication

WASHINGTON (AP)—High officials of the American Medical Association today urged a drastic tightening of chemistry standards by which many states seek to establish guilt of drunkenness of drunken driving.

One of the AMA's experts on alcoholism said that if the recommendation is written into state laws, a person could be declared legally drunk by chemical tests alone—ruling out any counter argument by a defense lawyer.

The recommendation came from the AMA's Board of Trustees. The policy-making House of Delegates will consider it tomorrow.

The Changes
The trustees' recommendation, based on studies by two AMA committees, is that states using chemical tests of blood or breath for alcohol content make these changes in their statutes:

1. Lower by one-third the level of alcohol concentration on which a person can be legally presumed to be under the influence of intoxicants. Specifically, the change would be from 0.15 per cent to 0.10 per cent. The AMA itself first recommended the 0.15 per cent level more than 20 years ago.

2. Change the wording of statutes so that the word "intoxication" would be substituted for the present "under the influence."

Dr. Marvin A. Block of Buffalo, N. Y., chairman of the AMA's committee on alcoholism, was asked by a reporter to explain the significance of the proposal.

Stricter Criterion
"This means that not only would we have a stricter criterion, but we'd also have real teeth in the drunkenness statutes for the first time," he replied.

"The present phrasing—'under the influence'—is a very vague term which depends on someone's judgment."

"Under the new recommendation, the chemical level of alcohol in the blood or the breath would be enough to convict a man of intoxication. The court wouldn't need any more evidence."

Nerves make possible all movement, nerves transmit all sensations to the brain. Nerves make possible sight, smell, taste and hearing. Nerves maintain balance and keep the body temperature at 98.6 degrees. Nerves control blood pressure, blood flow, speech and breathing. Nerves make the bowels move. Nerves make it possible to swallow. In fact there is no function taking place in the body without the control or coordination of the nervous system.

Master of Horror

The autobiography of Adolf Eichmann, now awaiting trial in Israel after his capture in and kidnapping from Argentina last winter, is one of the most chilling horror stories ever written. It makes the professional killer, the impulsive attacker, the drafty castles of Frankenstein or the Hungarian eeriness of a vampire stuff for the gentlest of children's bedtime tales.

Eichmann has taken painstaking care to give names, reasons, details and techniques in his account of the attempt of Nazi Germany to exterminate the Jews. But the philosophy behind the orders is what makes the blood run cold. We must suspect that Eichmann's story, tape-recorded in Argentina by a German who "accidentally" discovered Eichmann's identity really is the account of a man who couldn't stand the anonymity upon which his liberty and probably his life depended. The Israeli agents who tracked him down did a thorough job but it may be that Eichmann unconsciously made their dedicated task easier. His story is one of rationalization and explanation and a tremendous pride in the way in which he helped in what was supposed to be The Final Solution to the Jewish Question.

There was nothing emotional about the carnage, he writes. It was "a question to be solved politically . . . each of us . . . had no wish to harm the individual Jew personally . . . I am no anti-Semite. I was just politically opposed to Jews because they were stealing the breath from us . . . Neither I nor my men would have anything to do with the physical liquidation. We would act only as policemen . . . we would round up the Jews for the others. My department never gave a single annihilation order."

But Eichmann did have to visit the camps, and the first executions, mass shootings before the gas chambers were perfected, made him uncomfortable. "At heart I am a very sensitive man. I simply can't look at any suffering without trembling myself . . . Himmler would not stand for that kind of thing. That is sadism." But he sympathized as well with the commandant at Auschwitz who "did his duty as any other man would have done . . . He was a good family man and a very proper fellow . . . I liked to visit him. He lived with his wife and children in a 5-room house on the camp grounds. It was a homey place . . ."

It was the transportation to this homey place in which Eichmann took great pride. "We were responsible only for deportation . . . My interest was only in the number of transport trains I had to provide. Whether they were bank directors or mental cases, the people who were loaded on these trains meant nothing to me. It was really none of my business . . ." But Eichmann was careful that his Jews were transported to the waiting ovens "in covered, not open, cars, and always by the quickest routes . . . with Prussian exactness about provisions." People weren't supposed to die on the train "if only to avoid epidemics."

Eichmann claims that eradication wasn't the only aim of the Nazis. "I would not say I originated the ghetto system. That would be to claim too great a distinction." But the revolt in the Warsaw ghetto surprised Eichmann and probably some of his superiors to enforce the more drastic measures of more mass murders. "I still recall today how we in the SS and the Wehrmacht suffered disproportionately high casualties putting down the revolt. I could not believe that men in a ghetto could fight like that."

More than the murders, the lamps made of human skin, the thousands of Jews traded for trucks, the children regarded as fit targets for machine gun bullets or crematoriums is this attitude of Eichmann that it was all justified in the name of the state. Somehow one can understand a crime committed in the heat of anger or personal humiliation. But the regarding of human beings as instruments of the state, used or disposed of according to their value to the state is the real, the lasting horror. Here is the most complete perversion of socialist theory "for the good of the whole." And in Red China and the satellites of Soviet Russia the perversion continues.

Redistricting and the High Court

The United States Supreme Court has decided to hear a Tennessee reapportionment suit. This is nationwide news because it is the first time the high court has agreed to hear such a suit and it comes at a time when practically every state in the union has some sort of a reapportionment problem.

In the past the matter of reapportionment has been strictly a matter for state legislatures. Most of them have chosen to ignore it. Regardless of how badly some areas of a state may have been cheated out of representation there has been nothing they could do about it. This decision may bring a change.

The case in question was brought by ten Tennessee voters who want redistricting in that state to bring about a proper distribution of legislative seats. In recent years the shift of population from the farms to the cities has been taking place in Tennessee just as it has in Wisconsin and practically every other state in the union. Tennessee has not had a legislative redistricting since 1901 although the state constitution of Tennessee provides for redistricting every 10 years following the taking of the census, just as most other state constitutions do.

The petitioners claim that failure of the legislature to redistrict has deprived them of equal representation as guaranteed by the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution. They point out that a voter in Monroe County has 23 times as much representation in the legislature as a resident of populous Shelby County. It must be clear that the residents of the more populous areas of Tennessee today are being deprived of their right to equal representation.

Nevertheless it is a matter of big news that the U. S. Supreme Court is going to hear their case. In the past courts have shied away from this question. A court in Illinois in 1946 in referring to an apportionment case said, "Courts ought not to enter this political thicket." A special 3-judge federal panel in Tennessee dismissed this Tennessee case last December holding that federal courts lacked jurisdiction.

The chief issue before the Supreme Court will be the question whether the federal courts have authority to compel redistricting by state legislatures. If the court should determine that it has no jurisdiction the democratic form of government practiced in the United States will be near failure unless some other means of redistricting can be found. With the rapid movement of people from the farms and rural areas to the large cities it soon will be an actual fact that one or two persons living out in great sparsely settled areas will be exercising control over the government of some states.

American Politics in Japan

The Japanese it seems, are as politically erratic as Americans.

Last summer, when President Eisenhower planned to visit Tokyo, there were such widespread, Communist-inspired riots that he had to cancel the trip. The number of Communists in Japan is not large but they managed to confuse and bewilder enough of the people and the members of government to make it appear that Japan was swinging violently un-American.

But now the Japanese are emotionally all-awitter about President-Elect John Kennedy.

Apparently it isn't only his boyish appeal to the female, now able to express herself politically in Japan, thanks to our winning the war. It isn't that the Reds have gone to roost. The majority of Japanese are impressed by his age because Japan is a land where older men are held in reverence. Mr. Kennedy simply caught the fancy of a people preparing for their own election.

Premier Ikeda was quick to see the advantages. He put on a series of TV debates, too, and emphasized the close ties between his regime and the United States, something which would have had him booted from the screen last summer. But this time Ikeda's party was overwhelmingly elected.

There was free beer for men in Japan who could prove that they, too, were only 43. And perhaps the greatest flop-over of all was the front page thanksgiving of one former Imperial Navy Lieut. Commander Kohei Hanami. He was everlastingly grateful that his destroyer, which cut in half an American PT boat and forced its crew to swim for an island, had not caused the death of the ship's commander, Lieut. (jg) John Kennedy.

Propose Peace Plan For Arab, U. S. Oil

From The Wichita (Kans.) Eagle

They say that in the Middle East you just stick a pipe down in the sand and start pumping oil.

Apparently the Arab sheiks and princes not only thought so, but assumed that they had a right to sell every drop of oil that was produced.

This attitude has created untold problems for the American domestic oil industry. The influx of foreign oil has disrupted our markets, caused ever stricter production quotas, and finally forced American oilmen to ask the federal government to impose import quotas.

Arabs Agree

Now apparently the Arab nations have reluctantly come to the same conclusion — that merely pumping more oil into the flooded "pipelines" of world trade will solve nothing.

Coal, Oil, Gas, Water Will Remain Nation's Big Sources of Energy

BY LYNN POOLE
The Johns Hopkins University

Napoleon said an army marches on its stomach, but a nation moves on its sources of energy — that is, the coal and oil and natural gas in its earth, the fuel wood in its forests and the harnessed water power in its rivers.

These are the things that light and heat our homes, drive our cars and trains and planes, run our industries, and work our farms.

The history of America's dominant energy sources presents an interesting and revealing testimonial to our industrial development.

For example, in 1850 a total of 90 per cent of the energy consumed in the U. S. was in the form of fuel wood — forest timber chopped up to be fed to steam engine boilers and home fireplaces.

First It Was Wood

Then by 1910, prior to World War I, the dominant energy source had shifted from wood to coal. More than 75 per cent of our energy came from coal, while wood had dropped to about 10 per cent.

Today another revealing shift has taken place. Oil and gas now reign supreme as America's primary energy source, comprising almost two-thirds. Coal accounts for less than 30 per cent and wood, now nearly extinct, provides only about two per cent of our energy requirements.

Meanwhile, nuclear energy entered the picture. Will the pattern shift again?

No.

That's one of the significant answers contained in a massive study to be published this week by The Johns Hopkins Press in cooperation with Resources for the Future, Inc. Entitled "Energy in the American Economy, 1850-1975," by Sam H. Schurr, Bruce C. Netschert, Vera F. Eliasberg, Joseph Leiner, and Hans H. Landsberg, the volume details the history of energy use in the U. S. and makes predictions for the future.

Atomic Outlook

"In the over-all energy picture in 1975, atomic energy is likely to have little significance," the authors report. They estimate that atomic power will account for two to four per cent of America's total energy output.

The total growth in all energy sources between 1955 and 1975 is estimated to be about 88 per cent.

The projected growth of the various sources of energy also have been predicted. Growth of coal use will be about 70 per cent; crude oil, 86 per cent; natural gas, 107 per cent; natural gas liquids, 196 per cent; and hydropower, 120 per cent.

"Exceptionally high growth," the book reports, "is projected for the consumption of energy as electricity" which, of course, is derived from both hydropower and by fuel generation. This increase, from 633 billion kilowatt hours in 1955 to 1,966 billion kilowatt hours in 1975, totals 210 per cent.

Basis for Conclusion

The energy consumption projections were made by the authors based on a detailed analysis of the expected demand in each of the seven energy-consuming sectors and activities. They are industry, commercial, households, transportation, government, agriculture and miscellaneous.

In 1955 energy consumption by sector figured out as follows: Industry used 39 per cent of all energy consumer, transportation, 20 per cent, households, 18 per cent; commercial, 9 per cent; miscellaneous, 7 per cent; government, 5 per cent, and agriculture, almost 2 per cent.

The main change for these figures in 1975 will be the increase in transportation to 24 per cent and the decline of households to 17 per cent. Other sectors will use virtually the same percentage of energy.

In summary, the report believes that "the United States in 1975 could satisfy its demand for all energy from domestic sources of supply at no significant increase in costs."

Isn't it about time for Wisconsin and Michigan to consent to the organization of a separate State out of the Lake Superior region? The interests of that people are not as much identified with Michigan and Wisconsin as they are with Pennsylvania, Ohio or Illinois. Why not consent to their peaceful separation?

It is shown by statistics that the number of emigrants who have landed in New York City since January, 1950 up to October, 1960 is 89,866. These figures show an increase over last year in the same length of time.

Robert C. Zimmerman, Political Phenomenon

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The elections this fall have elevated to a unique position among the political professionals of this state 50-year-old Robert C. Zimmerman, who won reelection to the office of state secretary of state with such a margin of strength as to suggest that he is likely to hold the office forever.

Wyngaard

Regarded from any direction, the Zimmerman feat of piling up a margin of nearly 200,000 votes at a time when the political party tickets of the state were nearly evenly balanced in all other state-wide voting is a remarkable one. Nothing like it has been shown in this state in modern times — perhaps never before.

It happened because Zimmerman has combined in his ebullient person all of the political factors that politicians recognize as valuable in coaxing votes from the electorate and because his public office position is one in which it is difficult, if not impossible, to lose friends because of any official actions or defaults.

THE METHOD

It is a reasonable certainty that nobody in state politics (with the possible exception of Sen. William Proxmire) calls upon and shakes the hands of as many voters in a year as does the indefatigable state secretary. Surely nobody in state capitol politics piles up as many miles of driving to gatherings and meetings of all kinds, political and non-political, as the man who has more political security than anyone in his time has managed to acquire but maintains a constant desire to extend and improve it.

Nor is this tireless courtship of the electorate mechanical and calculated. The fact is it would not be as effective if he operated as a sophisticated mechanic. Zimmerman genuinely likes people. His warmth and his affection for humanity in all of its various manifestations cannot be mistaken, and are doubtless as effective as the enormous energy he expends.

Zimmerman also has the opportunity for the perpetual voter contact that is the indispensable tool of the professional. The duties of his office are not onerous. Perhaps not one citizen in a hundred who votes for him faithfully can offer a reasonably adequate summary of them—mostly because they are not of high consequence. He issues notary public seals, collects election returns, files corporate charters, keeps the state records, and rarely faces the tough decisions that require other elected officers sometimes to forfeit votes, however reluctantly.

OTHER FACTORS

Zimmerman's start in politics, quite obviously, was related to the value of his name. Name familiarity is a vital thing in elective politics. His father had been on the ballot repeatedly during an earlier generation. It was comparatively simple for the son to pick up where his father's career ended.

It is that name familiarity that undoubtedly has brought tens of thousands of extra votes to him, and that perennially causes some curiosity about his future. Will he aspire to higher place sometime? It is doubtful. To current inquiries he replies with a flat denial. The reasons lie in his family history. His father once held his office, then aspired to the governorship, but held it for only a single term.

Young Bob is content with the lesser place and the greater security. In 20 years in his office as assistant and as secretary he has not yet made a political speech, in the strict sense of the word. To the voters he looks like a nice guy, in an office he likes and which he occupies adequately. That's the way he wants it to be indefinitely.

Old Lady Unwilling Leaves Home Town for the Big City

Pearl Swiggum, in The Gays Mills (Wis.) Independent

The village's valiant little old lady has left Gays Mills. Not willingly. And not permanently, if she has her way. Fred Hanson, living in Chicago felt that he could not let his mother, 97-year-old Mrs. Anna Hanson, spend another winter alone. With the rigors of the past winter in their minds, her friends, while knowing they would miss her, urged her to go.

Only those who have put down deep roots can know what it means to be uprooted and moved to a strange location and unfamiliar way of life.

And this move was especially sad because Giffie had to die. The huge yellow tom cat that has been Anna's companion, friend and confidante for years could not be taken to the city. Efforts to find a new home for him failed. Efforts that Anna probably hoped would not succeed because she visualized a lonesome Giffie, returning to find her gone, maybe crying broken-hearted around her empty house. And so rather wanting to know that he was buried beneath her kitchen window than to fear he was sick, starving, injured or lonesome, she did the hardest but the kindest thing and let him be taken gently from her lap and put to sleep.

And if I am ever old and alone I, too, shall live in my own house for as long as they will let me. With my own stove and table and chairs and dishes and rocker and foot-stool. And I shall have a cat. And as I talk as old women do, I will not need to talk to myself. I will talk to my cat. And when my supper dishes are done and my cat has lured his bowl clean, I shall sit by my stove and hold him, and he will look at me out of his yellow cat eyes with dignity and humor and affection. And I will be content.

Wind Makes Lively Balloon Parade

Largest Units Cancelled Because Of Weather; About 15,000 Attend

BY DAVID SCHAEFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton's first balloon parade Monday night was a definite success, despite a howling wind that threatened to make unidentified flying objects out of the balloons and their handlers.

A crowd estimated by police at 10,000 to 15,000 lined the sidewalk and spilled over into the street, where people huddled together for warmth and alternately cheered, chatted and chattered.

The young balloon handlers from the YMCA Terrors Den did an admirable job in keeping the balloons on the ground, although keeping them running a straight line was impossible.

Devious Dragon
One of the most unruly units was a balloon dragon with a head at both ends. At the heart of the parade route it turned broadside in the street and seemed to want to chart its own course.

Managing the balloons became more of a problem near the State Street end of the route where the wind blew in from the west to tip and jostle the balloons on their carriages.

But windy or not, the parade was appreciated and enjoyed from the color guard and "Hello" sign that began it to the most popular unit, the Santa Claus float at the end.

Unit's Left Out
The giant colorful balloons were a new sight to most Fox Cities residents and were especially exciting to the children. Included were giant horses and cowboys, a chubby kangaroo, two toy soldiers, a space ship, horse, race car, Christmas tree and a house with balloon heads protruding from artificial windows.

The Appleton City Band and Americanos Drum and Bugle Corps provided music.

The parade was much shorter than anticipated because seven or eight of the largest units — several of them 55 feet in length — had to be taken out of the lineup for safety reasons.

Punctures

The parade manager associated with the firm that supplied the balloons said the wind was the worst they had experienced in 17 years. At 5 p.m. Appleton Chamber of Commerce officials were debating on whether to cancel the parade.

Matters were further complicated, parade officials said, by punctures in the balloons, believed to have been caused by someone at the assembly site with a pocket knife.

LeRoy Breitenbach, parade chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Committee, said the crowd was above expectations in view of the bad weather. Breitenbach cited the work done by Carl Peotter, parade marshal.

Worker for Blind Succumbs at 64

NEW YORK (AP)—Chester G. Kleber, 64, who led the nationwide development of workshops for the blind, died Monday.

Kleber was the first manager of the National Industries for the Blind, set up in 1938 under federal legislation, and had held the post since then.

Under his leadership the project grew into a nationwide network of 57 shops employing some 5,000 blind persons.

One of the Largest Crowds ever to attend a Christmas parade in Appleton turned out last night for the balloon parade sponsored by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Retail Division. Most popular with the youngsters was the Santa Claus float, upper left, which included a sleigh and reindeer. The dragon,

Permit Issued For $163,000 Hospital Wing

Work Underway on 2-Story Structure To Add Facilities

KAUKAUNA — A building permit for the addition to the Kaukauna Community Hospital was issued Monday by Lohar Kemp, building inspector, to A. H. Nimmer Construction.

Estimated cost of the 46 by 68-foot addition was listed at $163,000. Work on the structure is already underway and is expected to be completed about mid-year in 1961. The air conditioned 2-story wing with basement and service tunnel, will be of masonry and concrete construction.

The second floor will provide two large nurseries and work rooms as well as solarium and obstetrical beds. New labor rooms, nurses' stations and service rooms will be located in old areas.

First Floor Plans

The first floor will provide enlarged laboratory and tissue rooms, drug room, a new recovery room and doctors' lounge as well as locker, therapy and service rooms on this floor adjoining the present operating corridor.

The present location of ambulance and emergency entrance will remain unchanged. The new basement will provide for central storage of supplies and equipment and is served by the new elevator which connects all three floors. Remodeling of areas in the present hospital will provide additional space.

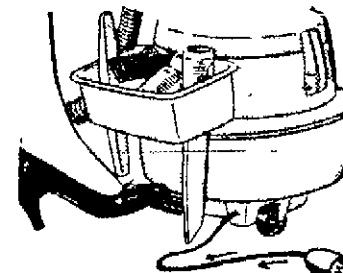

Designs include precast concrete floor slabs for rapid winter construction and early enclosure, face brick and insulated block walls. The new obstetrical patient rooms will include piped oxygen and special metal wardrobe units. Present boilers are adequate to handle the heating load.

Man Forfeits Bond in Bad Conduct Charge

LITTLE CHUTE — Robert Van Schyndel, 22, route 2, Sevour, forfeited bond of $25 when he failed to appear Saturday to answer charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

No Objections Raised to $1 Hike In Tax Rate for $437,945 Levy

KIMBERLY — The Village Board Monday adopted the 1961 budget calling for a tax rate of $43 per $1,000 assessed valuation, $1 higher than 1960, to raise a tax levy of $437,945, an increase of $26,579 over the 1960 levy of $411,366.

Total budget for 1961 is $710,215 compared to $666,133 in 1960, an increase of $44,082. The tax increase would have been higher except for an increase in revenues outside the tax levy from $254,767 to $272,270.

Curb and gutter assessments in 1961 will bring in $12,000 compared to $4,000 in 1960, state income tax was increased from $130,000 to $160,000, state liquor tax was increased from $1,500 to $6,500, and interest on water works

Homemakers to Learn Art of Making Candy

KAUKAUNA — Members of the Afternoon Homemakers Club will learn how to make candy at a Christmas luncheon at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Kaukauna Vocational School.

Demonstrating candy making will be Mrs. William Mittlestaedt. Members are to bring 25 cent gifts which will be donated to patients at old folks homes in the city and Riverview Sanitarium for use at Christmas time. Program chairman is Mrs. Richard McFarlan.

Mrs. J. J. Martens Jr. is chairman of the social committee assisted by Mrs. Frank Ferrige, Mrs. Leo Merlo, Mrs. Milton Teske, Mrs. Herbert Fassbender, Mrs. Martin Janssen, Mrs. Harold Frank, Mrs. Edward Gussert, Mrs. Clarence Thelen and Mrs. Elmer Vanden Heuvel.

Methodist WSCS Will Entertain Honor Society

KAUKAUNA — Members of the Honorary Society will be special guests at the Christmas meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Earl Belanger will have charge of devotions and Mrs. Gary Tuttle will have charge of the program. Mrs. James Toonen will sing two selections. Members of Circle No. 4 will be hostesses for a tea after the program.

A special meeting of the executive committee will be at 1:15 p.m.

Methodist Men's Club Plans Pancake Supper

Gustman, Merchants Take City Basketball Loop Lead

KAUKAUNA — Gustman and Kaukauna Merchants jumped into the lead in the City Basketball League over the weekend, each winning the second game as the first full round of action was held.

Miller Masonry and Coffey Motors have 0-2 marks while the other four have 1-1 marks. Five games were played over the weekend as two teams joined late and had to make up contests.

A big fourth period helped Gustman to a 48-42 win over Miller Masonry. The losers led 9-1 at the quarter, 21-16 at the half and 35-30 going into the final period. Ron Miller led the losers with 11 points while Cy VandenHeuvel hit 17 and Ed Vanden Heuvel had 16 for the winners.

Kaukauna Merchants downed Kappell's Tavern 51-55 in a hard fought contest. The winners led 16-12 at the quarter but trailed 24-31 at the halfway mark. The winners moved back into a 50-47 lead going into the final frame. Pat Casperson hit 27 points and Gerry Hopfensperger added 29 for the winners. Jim Walsh led the losers with 16.

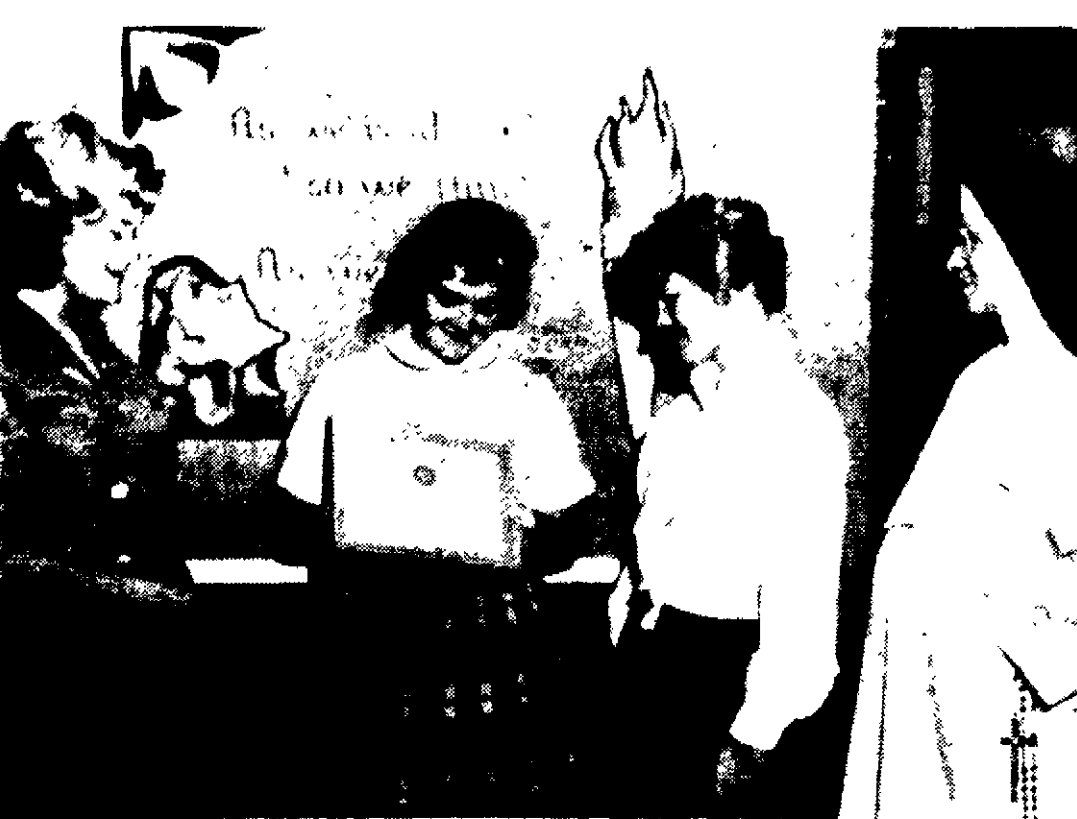

Other Games
Borg Electric took a 30-35 win over Coffey Motors, a strong second half making the difference. The losers led 11-6 at the quarter and 18-14 at the half. Borg still trailed 27-24 going into the final frame, but rallied for the win. Ron Busse topped the winners with 24 points, 10 in the final quarter. Bill Van Offelen topped the losers with nine.

Thilmann rallied to a 62-40 win over Borg, building up a big lead in the first three periods and then coasting to the win. The winners led 15-8 at the quarter, 29-11 at the half and 52-22 at the end of the third period. Bob Walters and Paul Jabnke each had 16 for the winners while Ron Busse hit 20 for the losers.

The final game had Badler, Northland defeat Coffey Motors 37-46 on a 22-point final period splurge. The losers led 12-9 at the end of the first period and 27-20 at the halfway mark. Coffey held a 38-35 lead going into the final quarter but were outscored by 14 points in the last frame. Tom Belling scored 22 points for the winners while Joe Hinkens matched this effort for the losers.

Other Games
Borg Electric took a 30-35 win over Coffey Motors, a strong second half making the difference. The losers led 11-6 at the quarter

Yul Brunner to Host Yule Show on Refugees

Orchestra Composed of Displaced Persons
To be Feature of United Nations Program

BY JINGO

As the season of brotherhood and brotherly feeling approaches it is difficult not to have serious thoughts stray to the refugee camps in too many places in this troubled world.

CBS, in the past, has filled this thoughtfulness with shows of Danny Kaye and Marian Anderson. Now a week from Saturday in the third of what amounts to a series Yul Brunner will make a report on the 15 million refugees awaiting they know not what. The show will pre-empt "Checkmate," a show about efforts to prevent catastrophe.

Brunner, a special consultant to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, will narrate a recent visit of his in Europe and the Middle East. He also will sing, play and dance with boys beside the Mediterranean and at a Christmas party in Europe.

A highlight of the show will be a performance by the Symphonia Hungaria from Mari, Germany. It is an orchestra made up entirely of refugees.

Three One-Act Plays Planned At High School

Students to Give Radio Style Drama, Mystery, Fantasy

Appleton High School students will present three one-act plays in "A Night with Curtain Call" at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school auditorium.

The plays are "Sorry, Wrong Number" and "The Hitch Hiker," by Lucille Fletcher, and "The Case of the Crushed Petunias," a lyrical fantasy by Tennessee Williams.

Miss Alice Sucharda of the faculty will direct the mystery "Sorry, Wrong Number," assisted by Lynn Le Duc. In the east are Chris De Lam, Janet Hooyman, Carolyn Stenlund, Lynn Le Duc, Sue Meyer, Mary Weyenberg, Elizabeth Bradford, Judith Greason, Peter Ryerson, William Hardt, Stanley Chumel and Richard Cresswell.

Radio Style

"The Hitch Hiker," to be performed in radio style, is directed by Jack Burroughs. Actors are Jack Swanson, Joann Bystrom, Patrick McElhinney, Pat Mathews, Nancy Franck, Helen Dixon, Karen Fox, Arlene Halverson and Kathy Koller.

Miss Sally Netzel will direct the Williams play. In the cast are Judith Jones, Thomas Moder, Al McKenzie and Judith Hoeftel.

Production workers for the first play include Philip Homes, production director; Lenore Vonder Here, properties; and Susan Howells, costumes.

Two Declarations

Andy Nelson, lighting crew head, and John Clark and Gary Willecke, sound, will work on the first two plays, and Ken Krueger will be in charge of lighting for "Crushed Petunia."

Roger Kerstner will be production director for the Fletcher and Williams dramas. Dave Dobratz will be stage manager for the first and last plays.

Other charmen for "Crushed Petunia" are Alice Fulton, properties, and Sandra Newbury, costumes. Mrs. Eugene Nienow will advise Linda Truttschel and her make-up crew for the three plays.

Also on the evening's program are two declamations: "St. Joan" by Mary Lawless and "Don't Eat the Daisies" by Sandra Hale.

English Entertainer Frankie Vaughan, whose last Hollywood film ended with many of his scenes cut from the picture, is back in the movie capital again. This time he stars with Martha Hyer in "The Right Approach." Vaughan says he can't be cut out of the new movie because he's in almost every scene.

Mauritania Becomes 13th French African Area to Gain Freedom

NOUAKCHOTT, Mauritania (AP)—Mauritania proclaimed its independence of France Monday and became the 13th French African territory to gain sovereignty.

Desert tribesmen danced in the streets of this unfinished capital and Moorish horsemen fired ancient muskets in the air as 57 years of French rule ended.

Only Algeria and a scattering of small islands and territories remain under the French flag in Africa.

Station WRPN at Ripon to Start FM Broadcasts

RIPON — An application for construction of a 10-watt educational FM radio station has been granted by the Federal Communications Commission to WRPN radio station of the Ripon College campus.

The station will start test programming in December and plans to begin its regular schedule by the first of the year, according to William Jochimsen, WRPN's station manager.

Assigned to a frequency of 90.1 megacycles on the FM band, the station will broadcast six nights a week, excluding Saturday, from 7 p.m. until midnight.

The student-operated station has been broadcasting for the last five years as a carrier current AM station, in preparation for the FM broadcasting. WRPN was the first AM radio station located in Ripon, and will become the first primary FM station in the city.

After the first of the year, WRPN will be simulcasting AM radio by the carrier current operation, in addition to operating a full FM schedule.

Memory Tricks Help People With Spelling, Geography, History

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Almost everybody would like to be a first class a-number-one rememberer, but almost everybody is a forgetful ne'er do well. And because memory is fleeting, there are hundreds of memory tricks one can learn — unless he forgets 'em.

As a small boy, I aided my spelling skills with a few tricks that are as old as can be. For example, the word geography gave me trouble until my grandmother taught me to take the first letter of each word in the following sentence, and presto! There was my difficult word.

George Elm's old grandfather rode a pig home yesterday. That sentence and many like it have been used many years by many people.

A friend of mine uses a completely zany memory crutch to recall the various state capitals.

Spring Fever, Ill.

The capital of Illinois — my friend tells himself — is abbreviated ill ill from what? Spring fever! Ah, says my friend, the state capital of Illinois is Springfield.

Other state capitals come to his memory by similar devices, thus:

New Mexico is sandy. The capital is Sante Fe! Texas suggests a taxicab — an auto. Austin is an auto, and the state capital.

Wisconsin suggests whisky. Too much whisky makes one mad. The capital is Madison. Maine suggests a month—May. Hence, May, June, July, August, The capital of Maine is Augusta. Minnesota suggests a minister, a preacher. St. Paul was a preacher and is the capital.

So goes my friend when he is calling to mind the state capitals. He agrees readily that his is a goofy method for remembering, but it has this quality: it works.

Teachers Disagree

Teachers will tell you that memory aids are wrong; that gimmicks of this kind are insufficient because the memory is supposed to do its own work. Sometimes, too, the memory aid is so complicated that it requires more diligence to learn and retain than it would to learn and retain the subject in question.

I knew a lady who could recite the names of all the presidents of the U.S. She had managed to get them all into a poem of some extravagant proportions. It started like this:

I know the presidents:
George Washington,
John Adams and the next,
Thomas Jefferson,
James Madison I know
And next to him comes James Monroe.

After a few years, my lady forgot the poem and now she is as poor at recalling the names and order of the presidents as you are.

Rule of Thumb

Such memory aids are properly termed mnemonics, and they are nearly as old as the hills. The ancient Romans used them extensively. For example, the term "rule of thumb" is an old term which we use to this day. Such a rule aided the storied orators of old to deliver their great speeches in an orderly, concise way.

In seeking to remember the proper order to make each succeeding point in the speech, the Roman orators would number, in their imagination, various places on the hand. The tip of the thumb, for example, would be point number two, and so on. It is a useful mnemonic to this day.

I submit that all of us use memory aids. One of the most commonly used mnemonics is the doggerel verse which helps us to remember which months have 30 days and which have 31—thus: Thirty days hath September, April, June and November, etc.

A Rat in the House

Many persons spell the word "arithmetic" by using the sentence, "A rat in the house might eat the ice cream."

I know a man who used the word "sun" to recall which of the planets were the most distant from the earth, thus: Saturn, Uranus, Neptune. Then Pluto was discovered and he was out of luck.

I had never been able to remember the curious icicle-like formations one finds in caves. I knew one was a stalactite and the other is a stalagmite, but I could not recall which grew up from the ground and which came down from the ceiling.

I invented this mnemonic to help me. "A stalactite sticks tight (to the ceiling). Now I never forget that one."

Do you use memory aids? (Tomorrow: More of the same—unless Charlie forgets.)

Claim for 1917 Auto Dismissed In County Court

CHILTON — A claim to regain possession of a 1917 Chevrolet automobile filed against the Walter Yokeum estate by Carl Kuhn, Sherwood, was dismissed in Calumet County Court by Judge Joseph Wilkus, Sheboygan, presiding for Judge D. H. Sebora.

Kuhn claimed he had loaned the car to Yokeum, a Sherwood garageman, several years ago for use in parades and for showroom purposes. He said he had never been paid for the comparatively rare vehicle which was valued at $500 in the estate inventory.

Jack Lucas, a witness for the Yokeum estate, claimed he was present when the disputed transaction took place.

India Notes No Change In Its Border Dispute

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru Monday told parliament that talks between India and Red China in their border dispute have not brought "any noticeable change" in the tense relations between the two countries. The talks began June 1.

County Revenues Exceed Estimate

CHILTON — Calumet County revenues for the first 10 months of 1960 have exceeded by $21,185 the total estimated revenue for the current year which amounted to $871,230, including general property tax from the municipalities.

Revenues to date amount to $892,416.

Income tax receipts from the state which exceeded by some $22,871 to estimated figure of $25,000 account for the difference.

Rigged Melon Patch Does Duty but Owner Fails to Respond

DENISON, Iowa (AP) — A Denison farmer, disturbed by raids on his melon patch, rigged his largest melon so that an auto horn would sound when the melon was moved.

But, his neighbors report, while the farmer and his family were away from home the horn tootled for more than half an hour. The noise didn't bother the melon thieves. They almost cleaned when smoke backed up into the room.

Firemen Answer 2 Calls Sunday

KAUKAUNA — Firemen answered two calls Sunday, neither resulting in much damage.

A television transformer burned out at the home of Loyal Belongia, 1211 Sullivan Ave., about 4 a.m. filling the house with smoke and leading to the call. Firemen used soot blast to clear a chimney at the home of Clarence Paschen, 613 Joyce St., about 9:40 a.m., receiving the call.

Posse of Hunters Apprehends Escapes From Mental Hospital

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN (AP) — A posse of deer hunters led by Sheriff Bruce Hutchins of Crawford County Sunday apprehended a man who walked away from a house. Hutchins said he offered mental institution several months no resistance when taken into custody, was in apparent good health and wore clean clothes.

Hutchins said the man, known only as "Alvin," had been the object of a search in three counties. Tomah.

He said farmers reported seeing the man in the wild Rush Creek area of northern Crawford County and complained that he was stealing milk and grain from them.

Card Game Called 'Nines'

Fun to Play on Stormy Day

BY CAPPY DICK

With a set of 40 homemade cards, each bearing a number, two or more boys and girls can have a lot of stormy-day fun playing "Nines."

To make the cards (which in itself is fun to do), use some very thin cardboard and out of it cut 40 cards, each two inches wide, and two-and-three-fourths inches long. With pencil or crayon, number them from one to eight. This allows five cards for each number--five bearing 1 five bearing 2, and so on. Print the number twice on each card as shown in Figure 1. This will make them easy to read from either side of the table.

When the 40 cards have been prepared and you are ready to play, shuffle them so the numbers will be well-mixed. Four cards are placed face-up in a row at the middle of the table. That leaves 36 cards in the pack and these are dealt face down to the players in rotation until all 36 have been distributed. If two are playing the game, each player will receive 18 cards. If three are playing each will have 12. The players must keep their cards in a neat stack face down before them.

You play in rotation, each player removing the top card from his stack to see if he can add its number to any one or more of the numbers on the table to make a total of nine. If he can, he picks up the necessary card or cards from the table and with his own, places them in a stack beside him. Then he gets another turn.

However, if he cannot make nine by adding the number of his card to any number or combination of numbers on the table he must place his card, face up, on the table with the others at the center and it is the next player's turn.

The game continues this way until all the cards dealt to the players have been used. The winner is the player who has gathered the most groups of cards totaling nine. It is easy to tell who has the most if the players pile their groups criss crossed as the players have done in Figure 2.

Chinese Official Says Danger of War Exists

LONDON (AP) -- Red China's foreign minister has been quoted as saying that "while imperialism and capitalism exist, the danger of war remains." But he denied China wants to extend Communism by war.

The Sunday Graphic quoted the red diplomat, Marshal Chen Yi, as saying in Peking last month that Western beliefs in China's belligerent foreign policy are "mistaken."

Stuart Golder, author of the Graphic article, said Chen Yi spoke of Red China's accomplishments since the Nationalists were ousted and added:

"What we achieved today is the result of arduous labor. Why should we want a world war to destroy these achievements?"

Teachers Favor WEA Requirement

Board President Says Compulsory Convention Attendance Is Wrong

About 80 public school teachers attended the Appleton Board of Education meeting Monday night to tell the board they wanted to be required to attend Wisconsin Education Association meetings. For the first time in years the board met in Morgan school auditorium to accommodate the crowd.

Action on a proposed change in the policy of compulsory convention attendance, and in effect compulsory WEA membership, was postponed until a committee of the board and a committee of the Appleton Education Association discuss it further.

The change first was recommended in January, 1959.

Says Requirements Wrong
Board president Mrs. Myrl N. Davis said the board had no quarrel with WEA, AEA or the teachers conventions. To require membership is wrong in principle, however, she said.

Professional interest should lead teachers to the convention whether or not they are required, Mrs. Davis said.

The State Department of Public Instruction allows the board to count teachers' convention days among the required 180 days of the school year if convention attendance is required, Mrs. Davis explained. If the recommendation in 1959 had been passed, two days would have had to be added to the end of the school year.

Year Longer Now
The school calendar now is 190 days long, so no days would have to be added if the change were made now, it was explained. Teachers did not want the school year to extend any further into June because it would conflict with summer schools they attend.

Membership in AEA, and automatically in WEA, includes about 99 per cent of the city teachers. Others buy WEA memberships at the state convention in Milwaukee the first week in November.

Robert Munger, Madison, WEA field consultant, told the board that 20,000 of the 30,000 WEA members attend the convention. He did not know how many were required to attend.

Several teachers charged Monday that to make WEA participation

Appointment of Teachers Okayed By School Board

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved hiring Richard R. Lewis as mathematics teacher at Wilson Junior High School.

Mrs. Lois Schnell, former teacher at Madison Junior High School, is the new home economics teacher at Roosevelt Junior High School. Mrs. DeLila Nock has become part-time Madison School librarian.

The resignation of Mrs. Sylvia Wilbur, Lincoln School primary teacher, was accepted.

Kenneth W. Johnston, Wilson Junior High School English and social studies teacher, earned a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, and so was given a salary increase.

tion voluntary would be bending over backwards to the minority, and making the majority follow it. Board members disagreed.

Charles W. Cook, Appleton High School dean of boys, suggested that instead of requiring convention attendance the board pay expenses, up to $50, of anyone wishing to go. The city council pays expenses of people to go to conventions, he pointed out.

E. John Goodrich, high school teacher, said he feared that if WEA membership were voluntary the American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), a rival organization, would come in and teachers be dictated to by "labor goons and racketeers."

Prompted by board member A. Neil McLeod, Goodrich admitted that the teachers, not the board, should decide to which organization they belong.

Edison Bleacher, Backstop Bids Amount to $1,880

Low bids of $1,800 for bleachers and backstops for the Edison school gymnasium were accepted by the Appleton Board of Education Monday.

The bids by Berlin Chapman Co., Berlin, include $1,090 for four rows of laminated wood bleachers and $790 for six basketball backstops.

High bids for $1,750 for bleachers and $1,405 for backstops. Six firms submitted bids.

Appleton High School Athletic Department was given permission to advertise for bids for 66 steel hurdles, costing about $1,300.

School Budget Pared Half of Needed Amount

Board to Wait Until New Superintendent Takes Office to Balance $19,621 Deficit

Budget cuts of $20,379 in the 1961 Appleton Public Schools budget, about half the amount demanded by the city council's cut from the Board of Education tax levy requests, were made by the board Monday.

More action on balancing the budget will be made after the first of the year, when the new superintendent of schools is here. When the year-end balance is known and when the board decides on summer maintenance work and 1961-62 salaries.

Items deferred from the budget include:

Site improvements, $4,065, including blacktop at Roosevelt and Richmond schools, backstop extension at Wilson, fencing at Washington, and play apparatus at Franklin, Richmond and Jackson.

Building and equipment repairs, $2,795, including library floor and firebrick at Wilson, stair treads and floor repairs at Morgan, and acoustical tile at Roosevelt, Wilson, McKinley and Washington.

Coal Feed Building improvements, $2,900, including an automatic coal feed at Jefferson, window screens at

Poor Attendance Noted In City Summer School

Elementary Science Class Praised; Typing, Remedial Reading Teachers See Some Faults

Poor attendance was a major about 75 per cent public school weakness of the Appleton public children and 25 per cent who attend elementary schools' summer typing and remedial reading programs, teachers have reported. There were 260 children enrolled in typing and 138 in reading.

In the elementary science program, which enrolled 26 public school students, attendance was relatively better and the teacher found no weaknesses.

The typing program, comprised of three three-week sessions with four one-hour classes of 20 to 25 sixth graders each day, enrolled

Roosevelt and Wilson, and cabinets and shelving at Franklin. Furniture and equipment, $1,265, including a davenport at Madison, duplicator table at Columbus, teachers' lounge at Jefferson, cabinets at Richmond, teachers' desks and magazine rack at Washington and shelving and tables at Foster.

All sidewalk repairs, $3,500. All new bath towels, $2,385.

Save on Pianos
Instructional supplies and equipment, $2,051, including one-fourth of the elementary science equipment budgeted, audio-visual equipment, elementary art equipment and supplies above the 1960 spending level, and savings on pianos because of favorable bids received this month.

Aluminum scaffolds at four schools, $1,000. Miscellaneous, $418.

The board left in the budget $500 for high school auditorium seats and $3,000 for summer school additions which had been suggested by the administration to be deferred.

Monday's action pared the budget to $3,104,791, with a $19,621 deficit.

Screening of applicants was suggested.

The remedial reading program, lasting six weeks, is for children whose reading is a year or more behind what it should be. Three this summer were senior high students, 14 junior high and the rest elementary. Half were public, half parochial students.

The children worked in small groups, for about 1½ hours a day. Six teachers said the class size and session length were good. One teacher said eight weeks would be better than six.

Reading Difficulty
The teacher reported that 149 children had perfect attendance. 66 missed one day, 25 missed two days and 20 missed more than two days. Absences and drop-outs meant that typewriters went unused, while some children couldn't take the course because of the large initial enrollment.

The typing teacher also complained that some students obviously had reading difficulty which greatly hindered their typing skill and accomplishment.

Five Topsy Drivers Pay Nearly $600

One Left Scene of Accident; Woman Becomes Abusive

Five men have paid nearly $600 for drunken driving and related offenses. Each loses his license for a year.

Anton Jansen, Combined Locks acting justice of the peace, fined Lawrence J. Wolfinger, 22, Dundas, $100 for drunken driving and $50 for leaving the scene of an accident. He was arrested by Robert Nechodom, Little Chute policeman, Saturday night.

Wolfinger's auto struck a car on Prospect Street in the village. Witnesses got his license number and description of the car. Within an hour the driver was apprehended as he left Little Chute and headed back toward Combined Locks. Wolfinger refused the drunkometer test.

Woman Fined

Francis J. Doyle, 59, route 1, Waupaca, was fined $100 by Police Justice George Whalen, Waupaca, for drunken driving early Monday. Mrs. Mary D. Schuetz, 56, route 1, Waupaca, who paid Doyle's fine, was fined $25 for disorderly conduct.

A deputy sheriff testified Doyle was driving on the wrong side of Highway 22 in King about 12:30 a.m. He arrested Doyle, who said he had no driver's license, in front of the Schuetz home.

The deputy said Mrs. Schuetz, who had been riding in the car, used abusive language and created a disturbance both at the time of the arrest and about 20 minutes later at the county jail, where Doyle had been taken. When ejected from the sheriff's office, Mrs. Schuetz continued to use abusive language in the street, the deputy said.

Declined Test

Frank Case, 50, 149 Curtiss Ave., Neenah, forfeited $118.95 in Outagamie County Municipal Court this morning.

He was arrested Saturday night after a state patrolman noticed his truck leave U.S. 45 just west of Wisconsin 76 and move erratically. Case declined to take the drunkometer test.

Frank H. Klotzbuecher, 55, of 1524 Wisconsin Ave., Oshkosh, pleaded guilty of drunken driving and was fined $100 and costs by Winnebago County Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning.

He was arrested at 11:50 p.m. Monday after his car went into the ditch off U.S. 41 in the town of Vinland and got stuck in the mud. He tested .19 plus on the breathalyzer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Carl Friedrich, 52, 1720 Menominee Drive, Oshkosh, through his attorney pleaded no contest, was adjudged guilty by Judge Cane Monday and was fined $125 and costs. He was arrested Nov. 15 after his car hit a row of parked cars on Hazel Street, Oshkosh, doing more than $5,000 damage to seven vehicles. He received minor injuries.

Spring Election Papers May be Taken Friday

Terms Expire for 10 Aldermen, 11 Supervisors, 2 on School Board

Friday is the first day to take election nomination papers for the April 17th, and Gordon A. Schultz, 19th, 1961 municipal non-partisan School board members whose terms will expire are Franklin L. Nehs, vice president of the board, and Victor Sumnicht, secretary.

Residents of the portion of the Town of Grand Chute attached to Appleton for school purposes are eligible for election to the Board of Education.

Signatures Needed

For school board members nomination papers must have a minimum of 100 signatures, the same as stipulated by law for all city-wide offices. The maximum is 952, or 10 per cent of the total vote cast for the four school board candidates in this year's spring election, also set by state law.

For aldermen and supervisors the number of signatures needed are a minimum of 1 per cent and a maximum of 10 per cent of the votes received by the winning candidate in the last election in the specific wards.

For example, in the First Ward candidates for alderman must have at least 20 signatures, but not more than 24, because in 1959 Ald. Austin Tucker received 244 votes.

Candidates can find out how many signatures they need when they get nomination papers from the city clerk.

Affidavit Required

Having too many signatures is as bad as not enough. Clerk Broehm warned. One signature too many invalidates a nomination paper, just as one too few.

Candidates must get signatures of qualified electors in their respective wards only. Having someone from outside the ward sign the nomination petition will invalidate it.

A notarized affidavit must accompany nomination papers when filed, showing the laws have been followed.

Papers may be circulated by candidates themselves or for them by qualified electors.

Rams Husband's Car, Woman Gets Arrested

MEMPHIS, Ten (AP) — Police said Mary H. Gray, 32, was arrested after deliberately ramming her husband's parked car with her own auto.

Officers said Mrs. Gray reported Monday that she was angry at her husband and told them, "I ran into that car on purpose. I want it and I can run into it if I want to."

She was charged with reckless driving and striking a parked vehicle.

Vining Basket Grass Makes Satisfactory Hanging Plant

BY KATHERINE B. WALKER

One of the very nicest and most colorful vining plants that I have grown this past year is Basket Grass (Oplismenus hirtellus variegatus). It is a delicate-looking, creeping, branching grass with leaves neatly striped and edged with white.

If given the proper amount of light, including morning sun, the leaves display a bright pink color along the white edging. Basket Grass has thin, wiry stems, and since these branch freely and the plant is a rapid grower, it soon makes a fine display. I have a youngish plant with graceful runners over three feet long, a spread half that wide, and a depth (extending out from the wall bracket in which the pot is hung) of well over a foot. If you have a partially sunny spot where you would like to grow a hanging plant, do try Basket Grass.

As I have already noted, Basket Grass enjoys a little sunlight—just enough to give the leaves an attractive rosy edge, but not enough to scorch them. The plant enjoys normal indoor temperatures, and appreciates a pleasantly rich, loose soil.

Keep Moist

Watering must be done as frequently as the plant needs it in order to keep the soil moist. With a small plant, once or twice a week may be sufficient, but if the plant is large and has developed leaf-bearing stems, it will need more frequent watering.

Once in a while old leaves, or leaves attached where the stem is branching, may turn dry and brown. Don't worry about this as it is normal. Simply pull the dry, brown leaves off.

Basket Grass is easily propagated by dividing the roots, or by pinning the stems to damp soil until they root at a node. So soon as tip-lengths rooted this way have formed roots, they may be cut from the parent plant and potted up.

Different Plants

Some time ago we did a column on hoffmannias, in which I described the vividly patterned leaves of these plants, and noted the taffeta-like sheen that adds so much to their beauty. Many readers believed, mistakenly, that the plants being described were episcias. Episcias, first of all, are noted for producing stolons, which hoffmannias never do. Second, episcias are more often than not hairy-leaved, while hoffmannias are smooth-leaved.

Third, while episcias do have gorgeous foliage, they are classed as flowering plants and produce large blossoms freely during their season. Hoffmannia, if it blooms at all, has only small flowers. If your plant has runners with little plants at their tips, and if it bears good-sized, trumpet-shaped, fringed blossoms, then you have an episcia.

Questions and Answers

Q. Why can't I do an air-layer on my dieffenbachia plant just as I did on my Rubber Plant? My florist says I can't air-layer the dieffenbachia.

A. Perhaps he said it wasn't necessary, rather than that you couldn't do it. Air-layering is done with plants which are difficult to root from cuttings handled in the usual fashion, but a length of stem from a dieffenbachia will root readily in damp sand, vermiculite, or in plain water.

Q. I can grow beautiful green plants, but I can never get one to bloom, not even those that are supposed to flower easily. Believe me, the foliage on all my plants is luxuriant, but nary a blooming plant blooms, if you'll pardon the feeble pun.

A. First, are you using plant food that has too high a nitrogen content? This can cause leaf growth at the expense of flowers. Second, are you sure you are giving your plants enough sunlight to encourage flowering? Few plants will bloom without having at least a few hours sunlight each day. You mention in your letter that your Wax Plant (hoya) and your African violets have never bloomed; the Wax Plant needs almost all the sun it can get, and African violets require at least two hours of morning sunlight to bloom at all well.

Korea Passes Law to Punish Rhee Officials

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korea's National Assembly Monday approved 44-3 a constitutional amendment opening the door to legislation of special laws to punish former officials of the ousted Syngman Rhee regime.

The amendment passed by the lower house last week, will come into force when proclaimed by the president, probably Tuesday.

British Lord Wants To Renounce Title

LONDON (AP) — Can a British lord quit?

Youthful Viscount Stansgate is hopeful this week of breaking a three centuries-old tradition by shedding his title which he inherited against his will.

The custom of a once a peer noble lord of the realm.

He said he prefers the House of Commons, where a man can always a peer has been in effect since 1678 to prevent hard-up peers from selling their titles for a while and feel as if he is getting something done.

known as Anthony Neil Wedgwood Benn. Labor Party member of the House of Commons for 10 years. He inherited the title two weeks ago when his father died. The new Viscount Stansgate immediately announced he would renounce his peerage and status of a noble lord of the realm. He said he prefers the House of Commons, where a man can always a peer has been in effect since 1678 to prevent hard-up peers from selling their titles for a while and feel as if he is getting something done.

Holiday Decorations Main Topic at Congregational Family Workshop

Douglas Knight Jr., Son of Dr. and Mrs. Knight, gives it all he's got as he blows up a balloon for Nancy Dafoe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Dafoe. Activities keyed to suit each member of the family were included in the Christmas workshop for members of First Congregational Church. Below, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Behl, publicity chairmen, fit candles into white styrofoam circles which later will be covered with pine boughs for advent wreaths. Mrs. Harold Podzilni offers suggestions for making the seasonal decorations.

A holiday workshop for the entire family was held Sunday afternoon at First Congregational Church. Young children made stand-up angels, decorated paper plates and strung popcorn while their parents made wreaths for advent candles.

An art gallery exhibiting reproductions of great masterpieces was set up in the junior auditorium. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carlson were in charge of the display.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hawkins were co-chairmen of the various workshops in the recreation room and dining area.

A Christmas picnic, with each family bringing its own box lunch, was held in the evening.

The Rev. Richard Schroeder led the advent candle lighting ceremony which concluded the day's activities.

Kathy Riemer, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Riemer, Helen Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Barker, Neenah, and Chad Harkens, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harkens, paste holiday pictures on paper plates to use as decorations in their home at Christmas time. While the youngsters were keeping busy making ornaments, Christmas rockets, miniature trees and angels, their parents and older brothers and sisters made advent wreaths for use at home.

Newlyweds Will Reside In Madison

Methodist Church in Elmwood was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Miss Honey Berg and Robert Hawley. The Revs. Kenneth Barringer and Calmer Overlin officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Nels Berg, Elmwood, and Mrs. Dorothy E. Hawley, 618 S. Commercial St., Neenah.

Miss Beverly Ramaceir was maid of honor and Miss Marlene Skagen and Mrs. William Hagstad were bridesmaids.

Best man was Howard Hawley. Neenah, and groomsmen were Robert Murphy, Spring Valley, and William Hagstad, Mount Horeb. Donavon Berg, Sidney, Mont., and John Berg, Lake Geneva, shared ushering duties.

A reception was held in the church parlors. The bride is a graduate of Wisconsin State College, River Falls, and is teaching in Belleville. Her husband also is an alumnus of River Falls and is studying for his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Church Clubs Plan Hanging Of Yule Greens

The traditional "Hanging of the Greens" party will be held by members of MMM and Kum Duhl Clubs at 8 p.m. Dec. 17 at First Methodist Church.

Decorations will include Christmas trees, wreaths, ribbons and sprigs of holly to give the sanctuary and halls the look of the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frans Vaurio, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gunter and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Buxton are co-chairmen. They will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Armbruster, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Ashman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Embling, Mr. and Mrs. Al Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. George Schirrmacher and Mr. and Mrs. William Sene.

Marriage Promises Exchanged

Mrs. Agnes C. Kobs, 1515 E. Tracy St., was married to Donald J. Verkuilen at 10 a.m. Saturday. Sacred Heart Catholic Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Joseph Boehm. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel Kuba, 1327 W. Spring St. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Verkuilen, 313 W. Commercial St. are the parents of the bridegroom.

Michael Kobs gave his mother in marriage. She was attended by Mrs. Vernon Verkuilen as matron of honor.

Vernon Verkuilen served his brother as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Parman and Charles Kuba, the bride's brother.

Dinner was served at noon at the Cliffs for the immediate families. A reception was held there from 2 to 4 p.m.

Party 'Breeze'

With the party season coming up, the hostess will be spending much time in the kitchen preparing food. This means more wear and tear on floors, countertops and other surfaces. If she uses stainproof materials, such as ceramic tile, her clean-up job will be a "breeze." Tile is also scratchproof, and extremely easy to keep clean.

WSCS Plans Christmas Tea

Mrs. Robert Ertl will present a dramatic reading at the Christmas tea of Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the social union room. Circle 4 will be hostess.

Mrs. Rex Porter will lead devotions.

Poultry Stuffing

Thinly sliced water chestnuts are a delightful addition to herb-seasoned poultry stuffing.

Ricky Matson, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Matson, and Ann Burge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burge, cut and paste brightly colored paper while making angels for holiday decorations.

Your Problems Temperate Man-Wife Team Assails Ann's Replies on Liquor

DEAR ANN: Both my husband and I are sick and tired of listening to you knock liquor. You are probably a lush yourself. Perhaps the lady doth protest too much.

My husband and I both enjoy a martini before dinner at night, and we've found that it relaxes us after a hard day's work. Doctors frequently recommend a little libation before the evening meal.

Neither of us has seen snakes or pink elephants, and we've never hit a lightpost, been evicted from a night club or landed in jail. We have never had a hangover that didn't disappear by noon and neither of us has missed a day's work because of John Barleycorn.

So why don't you quit slinging that old axe, Annie? We don't need your index finger pointing at us several times a week.—Moderate Mixers

Clintonville Setting for Nuptial Rite

CLINTONVILLE — Miss Louise Hallie Vierbicher, 157 N. 12th St., and Ramon A. Richardson, 88½ Sixth St., were married at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Martin Lutheran Church. The Rev. Luther Strasen officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Vierbicher. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Richardson, Smithland, Iowa, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. Dan Schnorr, Springfield, Ill., as matron of honor. Gilbert De Spiegler served the bridegroom as best man. Guests were seated by William Bucholz and Roland H. Vierbicher, the bride's brother.

A reception and dance were held after the ceremony at Sawyer's Fly Inn.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Chicago, the newlyweds will live at 159 Anne St., Clintonville.

The bride is a graduate of Clintonville High School and St. Mary School of Nursing, Wausau. She is employed as a nurse at Clintonville Community Hospital. Mr. Richardson graduated from Smithland High School, Smithland, and Northwest Institute of Medical Technology. He is a laboratory technician at Clintonville Community Hospital.

Say Vows In Catholic Ceremony

Miss Marion Smith, daughter of Mrs. Cecilia Smith, 614½ W. College Ave., became the bride of David Vanden Boogart, son of Lawrence Vanden Boogart, 201 First St., at 11 a. m. Saturday.

The Rev. Adam Grill officiated at the single ring ceremony and low mass at St. Mary Catholic Church.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Gerald Smith, and was attended by Miss Barbara Vanden Boogart, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor. Shirley Smith, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Best man was Andrew Zinlen-ski and groomsmen were Robert Pompa, Harry Smith, brother of the bride, ushered.

VFW Hall was the setting for the dinner and reception. The newlyweds attended Appleton High School. They will reside in Appleton.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

"HOW MUCH" IS OUT

I go with a girl who is always asking me and everyone else how much things cost. How could I tell her that this is impolite? I don't want to hurt her feelings. She wouldn't bother me so much if she just asked once in a while. Her questions are so personal. She will even ask how much money her friends make.

Louise Davis Answers:
If you refrain from answering these nosey questions and quickly turn the subject to something else, your friend should soon catch on that well bred ladies and gentlemen don't ask such questions and that they aren't even interested. This may take a little time but by using the power of suggestion and a little patience it would be worth the effort. If the girl becomes persistent and happens to ask eventually why you won't answer her questions, tell her factually that "there are so many other worth while questions to answer instead of how much things cost."

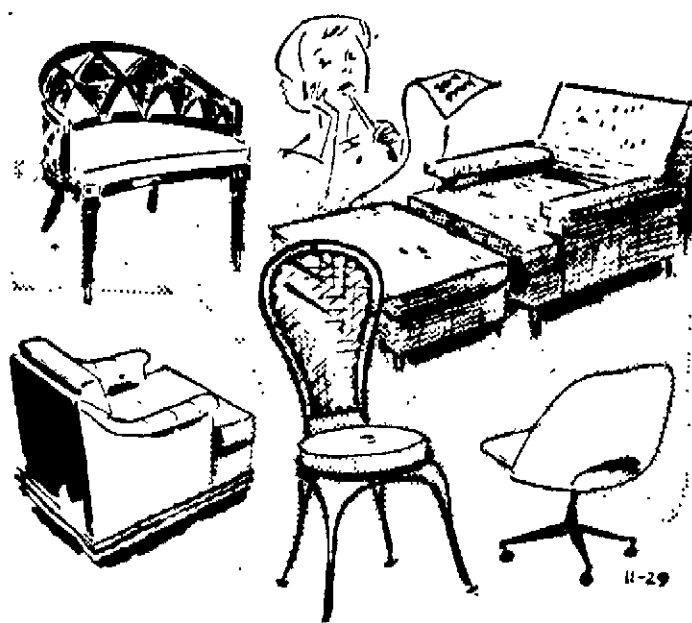

TOGETHERNESS TAKES PRECEDENCE

We are giving a pre-nuptial dinner for a couple who will be married soon. How do we seat them at the table? I have been told that one should be at the head of the table and the other should be at the other end. This sounds all wrong to me. Please help me out.

Louise Davis Answers:
Seat the two love birds together. They would be miserable if you separate them. Ordinarily the lady guest of honor sits at the host's right and the gentleman guest of honor is at the host's right. But under the circumstances, such a separation would be thoughtless.

A Chair for Christmas Can be Inspired Gift

A chair is a wonderful gift for of room faults that spots the trou-Christmas, or it's merely practical immediately, and starts you tical and a fill-in that shouldn't off confidently on the road to im- await holiday giving. The differ- improvement. Covering 16 big ques- cence lies in the idea for the type tions, this booklet is actually a of chain and what it can give short-short course in practical along with long service. Perhaps decorating. The booklet is yours it's time to splurge on the most for 15 cents and a stamped, self- impressive big lounge chair to be addressed envelope sent to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper.

Personalized Pattern

Then there's the smaller, beautifully designed chair that picks up the style of a room all by itself. For the room that's full of too-plain furniture, and the owner who is tired of it that way, this chair brightens the season delightfully. A desk chair that delivers office performance is a treasure for the briefcase night worker or the home based careerist. Someone in the family may cherish the swivel chair that makes it so easy to swing around from the TV set to the conversation grouping and back again, and a teen-ager may love one of the unusual new designs in wrought iron painted a brilliant color.

The most help you ever had with furnishing and decorating—Elizabeth Hillyer's booklet "WHAT'S WRONG WITH THAT ROOM?" It's a quick check list.

St. Ann Sodality To Meet Thursday

WEAUCUEGA—St. Ann Sodality will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Catholic rectory with Chairman Mrs. Max Ziepe, Mrs. Arthur Hunsader, Mrs. George Wiprecht and Mrs. Warren Mallo in charge of arrangements. Instead of exchanging gifts, the women will donate 50 cents for the work of the sodality's sponsored missionary, Father Andrew Shimek. SDS

Shop Early, Avoid That Tired Look

It's smart to "do your Christmas shopping early" provided you shop smartly. Unfortunately shopping early just means shopping hurriedly to many people. And hasty snap judgments about gifts are apt to result in poor choices, wrong sizes and other disappointments.

Make List

Don't try to battle your way through every square foot of your favorite department store hoping you'll see something that suggests itself for someone on your list. Instead, sit down in your favorite chair at home, write down the names for your gift list and then go over the catalog and newspaper adds of your store. In addition to suggesting the best choice of gift, the ads tell you the location in the store and the price. Try it. You'll save time, money and patience and you and every person on your list will be happier with the gift. And if the gift is going out of town don't hold it for mailing until the last minute. The post office urges you to "do your Christmas shipping early."

Beauty Bonus

There's a beauty bonus in orderly shopping, too. You don't have that harried holiday look and there will be more time for naps between shopping, mailing and house fixing; and for beauty breaks. Why not take some of the money you saved by smart shopping and treat yourself to a professional hair-do. Make this your gift to you. You have earned it!

The Institute of Paper Chemistry will hold its Christmas party for faculty, students and their families at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Pythian Hall. General chairman is Miss Lillian Roth, with soap and water. Now splash Neenah. Other chairman is a mild skin fresher like John Pelouan. Entertainment; watch hazel. Let dry without tow. Robert Baich food. Ralph E. eling and start your makeup. It's Davis decorations. Harry Wilder, a restful but zesty approach to tickets, and Donald Sachs, publicity.

Pianist's Music Demands Thought

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Arnold Schonberg, who stirred 12 intervals. Even a simple count up many a musical hornet's nest of movements indicate that many in his day, once wrote:
"Music without ideas is unthinkable, and people who are not willing to use their brains to understand music which cannot be fully grasped at first hearing are simply lazy-minded. Every true work of art to be understood has to be thought about, otherwise it has no inherent life."
The sort of music presented in Harper Hall of Lawrence Music-Drama Center last evening by visiting pianist David Burge of Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., demanded to be thought about. Sensuality was strictly a by-product; its main purpose was cerebral.

Effort Expended
In fact, the whole purpose of expressionistic 20th century music on any except the lazy-minded Schonberg, Bartok and Dallapiccola, is to bring the subconscious mind into the open. And when you have, say, 150 conscious minds in an audience burrowing desperately through a sea of sounds in search of a composer's subconscious, there is a lot of energy expended in sheer communicative effort.

To listen to contemporary music on any except the lazy-minded level, you have to know certain ground rules. For instance, 12 seems to be the magic number in much of today's composition. Some works, if searched, reveal a 12 tone theme, others a 12 stroke

Sheinwold Lead Card Can Win or Lose Game

Very few players give much thought to the opening lead. Any reasonable card will do to start the play, and they begin to think only after the dummy's has appeared on the table.
Take the West hand today, for example. If West postpones his thinking, he will lead the king of diamonds.

Declarer takes dummy's ace of diamonds, cashes the ace of clubs and ruffs a club in dummy. He ruffs a diamond in his hand and ruffs another club in dummy. And then he ruffs another diamond to reach his hand so that he can ruff a third club with dummy's last trump.
South makes five trumps in his own hand, three ruffs in the dummy, and two side aces. The total comes to 10 tricks, and South is home.

Early Thought
The result is different if West thinks before he chooses his opening lead. The bidding gives the impression that South has nine or 10 cards in the black suits.
West looks at his own hand and sees considerable length and strength in clubs. He should expect dummy to be very short in clubs.

These simple reflections should warn West that declarer will probably cross-ruff to make his contract. Since the best defense against a cross-ruff is to lead trumps at each opportunity, West should open a trump.
With a trump opening lead my South is in trouble. If he ruffs shift to trumps later.

Mrs. Kennedy Advised to Shelve Plans for a While

BY FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Any plans Mrs. John F. Kennedy has for increasing social activity in the White House will have to be postponed for six months.
That's the advice from her doctor and it dashes some of the enthusiastic predictions that came only a week ago from Mrs. Kennedy's new social secretary.
Miss Letitia Baldrige had reported Mrs. Kennedy would be making plenty of news and innovations in the White House starting about three months after the birth of her baby.
But, the unexpectedly early arrival of John F. Kennedy Jr. Friday and a doctor's advice changes the picture.

Dr. John W. Walsh, who brought baby John into the world four days ago, wants Mrs. Kennedy to take it easy for six months.
He explained Monday that means she'll have to "cut down—but not eliminate" some of the White House social activities.
The doctor, with obvious understanding of what may be expected of his patient as first lady, moved to ease her path.
Any woman needs time to recover from having a baby, he noted, but Mrs. Kennedy is about

Youth Skids Car Into Side of Freight Engine

ST. JOHN — Dennis Dorn, 20, Sherwood, escaped serious injury about 6:30 a.m. today when the car he was driving smashed into the side of a Soo Line freight locomotive at the County Trunk B crossing just west of here.
Dorn, westbound, apparently skidded into the train, which was bound for Menasha, according to County Patrolman Donald Kossman.
Dorn was treated for facial, hand and shoulder cuts and bruises at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton, and released. The car was extensively damaged. There was no damage to the train, Kossman said.

This Is Progress?
NORTH CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—Forty-five years ago it cost the U. S. Navy $25,092 to erect twin 410-foot radio towers at the Great Lakes Training Center. Today it's going to cost the U. S. Navy $24,994 to dismantle them. Built in 1915, the towers have not been used for the last 10 years.

Our Children

Today's Youth Confused By Tremendous Conflicts

BY ANGELO PATRI
Older people look back on their youth and, remembering only the happy days, dream of it as a period of wonderful joy, which it really never was. Nor is it today, but our society is not adjusted to as our adolescent boys and girls try to find their way in a world of tumult, change and frustration. On all sides they are exhorted to do and not to do. Seldom are they asked what they want to do. How they feel about what is happening to them, what can be done to help them. Much is said about freeing them for search and experiment in school and community but the idea, for the most part, ends there.

Under Parents' Control
Young people in secondary schools and in the first years of college are looked on by many as grown-up, responsible people, in which they are not. How can they be responsible for anything when they are under the control of parents and teachers who advise and push them to follow a set pattern of life because "it is best for them." Maybe it is best but they more duties than the ordinary are not convinced. They would Mrs. Smith," he said, and his like to look over the fence to see advice for Mrs. Kennedy was "to what less there for them. Many a attend the major, necessary functions and try to curtail the less- and gagged in the arms of affection things until she can handle them."

The young people stepped into adulthood come face to face with the problems of sex. Nothing they things as formal state dinners will meet in time to come hits for visiting heads of state. The nonessentials doubtless are so much. They are beset by a the routine greeting of visitors, tremendous drive and know little posing for pictures for worthy about its meaning, less about the charities and endless handshakes—implications of the feelings that ing with small groups coming to swamp them mentally and physically. Parents and teachers say "no, no. You are not ready. You must wait."

Keen Conflict
Nature does not wait and the her mind to White House projects ahead. How many of Mrs. Kennedy's plans will be shelved for a while is not known. Parents have a duty to protect

Christmas ideas for the whole house

That wonderful season is here again... it's time to decorate the house! December Better Homes & Gardens magazine is packed full of ideas to make every room glow with holiday cheer. Mobles from muffin cups and plastic balls, ribbon and candy-fruit wreaths, a marshmallow-man centerpiece, a Japanese-doll or happy-face tree, ideas, ideas, IDEAS! And you make them with everyday things in the home. There are Christmas lighting ideas (safety tips, too) for inside or outside the house. Make this season one of the gayest ever. Let the holiday idea-packed issue of December Better Homes & Gardens inspire you. Look for the little girl among the candles on the cover.

Poetic Miniatures
The evening began with some poetic miniatures. Arnold Schonberg's Sechs Kleine Klavierstücke, Op. 19. Then there were 10 minutes of Mozart, in this instance the Sonata in B flat major, K. 570. Ben Weber, a young man from St. Louis, contributed a Fantasia of considerable power and imagination.
Burge's own works were among the most attractive of the list, for he has a gift for atmosphere and a worthy disciple of the composer-teacher he admires so much. Dallapiccola himself is stylistically as elegant as an Italian can be, and there is great subtlety within a seemingly simple framework.
Bela Bartok's vivid, pulsing 1925 Sonata is rough, dynamic music based on Magyar folk themes, not a sobbing syrup of gypsy tunes but music rooted in the earth; hard, crude, abrupt, and honest.
For an encore he offered one of Beethoven's Bagatelles, Opus 126.

Dieter Walks Tightrope
An approved reducing diet aims at striking a nice balance between a high nutritional content and a low-calorie count. The combination, however, you must be a knowledgeable menu-planner. Concealing balanced, low-calorie menus is like walking a tightrope, precarious unless you have the knack. You can best acquire it, and should, by referring to nutrition and calorie charts.
But when pinched for time, the following rule-of-thumb serves well in planning dinner menus: Simply select five different types of food, each one in a different color.
To exemplify, your selection could be red meat, a yellow vegetable, green salad, brown bread, purple plums, white (skim) milk. Such a variety of types and colors insures a sound balance of nutrients. Moreover, it makes for an attractive, satisfying meal—the kind a dieter can stick with.
Now what insures a sound calorie count? Modest portions, that's what!

Send for my purse-sized booklet, "Diet . . . And Like It" which includes: Shortcuts to dieting; a calorie calculator; simplified menu planning; your model weight. For your copy, write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

School Board Makes Formal Request for Junior High Property
Formal request for a junior high school site north of Appleton was approved by the Appleton Board of Education Monday.
The land, to be bought from Percy C. Penning if the City Council approves, is on the north side of Florida Avenue, extending about 720 feet north to a line 600 feet south of Capitol Drive. It is 1,148 feet long, extending from a half block west of Lave Street west to a line slightly west of where Durkee Street would be if it were extended north.
The site is between 18 and 19 acres.

Government, Industry Equip College Labs

Though Exterior of Lawrence Science Hall Hasn't Changed, Interior Is Modernized

BY ANNE SHAFER
The exterior of Lawrence College's Science Hall has not changed since its major remodeling and facelift in 1948, but a quiet revolution has been going on in its interior. New equipment and facilities added during the last several years have opened whole new areas of scientific research, and updated possibilities in traditional areas.

Contributions have come from many sources. Industry has been in the fore, with the company of E. I. DuPont de Nemours making substantial grants for four successive years, amounting to $4,000 in each of the past two. Shell Oil Co. and Johnson Wax Co. have also contributed heavily.

The U.S. Government has played a major role, with both the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Atomic Energy Commission contributing more than $10,000 worth of equipment. Other improvements come from individuals, to the tune of over $6,000.

Radiation Equipment
The newest and most spectacular addition is an array of equipment which has been given to Lawrence by the AEC for basic instruction in radioisotope methodology. There is $8,146 worth of machinery here — scintillation counter, radiation meters and scalars, a gas flow counter, radiation analyzers, electrometers, and various shielding and safety devices. All this is for license-exempt low level radiation experiments.

Dr. Paul Gilbert, chairman of the physics department, said physics students will look into the characteristics and properties of radiation, the chemists will investigate ion exchange, budding biologists will study the rate of carbon fixation in photosynthesis, and the geologists can begin experiments in radiometric surveying and assaying of ore samples.

The radioisotopes for the experiments are ordered in small amounts from Oak Ridge, Tenn., where Dr. Gilbert this summer attended special training sessions given by the Institute of Nuclear

Policemen of The Fox Cities

(This is another in a series of stories on Fox Cities area policemen.)

Ronald L. Smith, 31, 1124 W. Lawrence St., joined the Appleton force April 1 and is a patrolman. He is married.

Smith

Smith was born in Milwaukee and graduated from a Milwaukee high school. He served in the U. S. Marine Corps between 1947 and 1950 and in the U. S. Army between 1951 and 1952.

His hobbies include coin collecting, judo, hunting and fishing. He was a Milwaukee policeman from 1953 until this year.

Studies. The National Science Foundation and Shell Oil Co. financed his study.

Three of the biology department staff—Sumner Richman, Bradner Coursen, and Roger Trumbore—have done research with radioactive tools, so that Lawrence students will have the benefit of their experience in applied nuclear science.

Marine Corp. to Give Dividend Of Polaris Stock

A special dividend of one share of class B, non-voting stock of the Polaris Corp. for each share of The Marine Corp. stock has been declared by The Marine Corp. board of directors.

The Polaris Corp. has been organized by the Marine Bank to hold a 99-year option to purchase all of the outstanding stock of the Wisconsin Clybourn Urban Development Corp. It will be independent of both the Marine Bank and the Marine Corp.

Wisconsin Clybourn was organized in 1957 to develop a two-block plot in downtown Milwaukee into a modern bank and office building-parking garage complex with a plaza. The complex was initially conceived by the Marine Bank, which sold Wisconsin Clybourn the two-block plot and received the option to buy up Wisconsin Clybourn stock. The Marine Bank formed the Polaris Corp. to hold the option and distributed Polaris Corp. shares as dividends.

Illness, Activity or Boredom Can Cause Extreme Fatigue

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

On my desk is this letter from a college freshman, and she's "so tired." She "has no energy."

She writes "I can forget myself for a while, and have a good time, but then I get tense."

Dr. Molner

She's been to the doctor regularly, and he has given her medication for her thyroid, and tested her metabolism and found it normal. He has assured her that he can't find anything physically wrong.

Can one see the important part of the foregoing remarks? It is the statement about being able to "forget myself for a time—but then I get tense."

There are two major causes of tiredness. One is illness of some sort. The other is the result of being active—you burn up so much energy that you are just plain tired and need some sleep to recoup.

If either of these is the case, then the answer lies in some other factor—like "nerves," "tension," "psychosomatic discomfort," or any blamed thing you want to call it.

Experiment

If you are a tired person and you remain unconvinced, invest five minutes in this experiment. And I mean five minutes by the clock, not by guesswork. Hold one hand straight up over your head. Don't move it. Just leave it there. You won't go into any agonies. But after five minutes you'll decide the second hand on your watch is going slow. You'll have the urge to get that arm down and move it around. You will, in short, discover a faint ally, by reading my booklet "The taste of what it means not to relax—or even have the relaxation that comes with moving."

My first rule for youngsters a long, self-addressed, stamped (and often oldsters, too) in this envelope, and 20 cents to cover sort of situation is to urge more handling. (Copyright, 1960.)

activity. For the young, especially, this can be dancing, walking, chopping wood, basketball, skating or anything. It may mean demanding mental exercise which can be bridge, acting in a play, working on the school paper, getting in an argument at the Purple Parrot Soda Fountain, or falling in what college freshmen call love.

But don't stand still or sit still—mentally or physically. Do things with other people. Be interested. Be interesting if you can. Don't—if you get my simile—just sit with one hand up over your head, perfectly static and bored and tired, for five minutes.

If I haven't made my meaning clear, then hold your hand up over your head, without moving, for 10 minutes. If that doesn't prove it, do it for 15. By that time you'll get my point: Extreme fatigue, when there is no physical excuse for it, is the result of the strain of being static. Of being bored. Of not entering into activity that is interesting enough so you don't wear yourself out being "tired."

Digitalis Poisoning

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about digitalis poisoning? Symptoms, etc.? Would it show on a cardiogram?"—M.O.

Symptoms of digitalis poisoning (as contracted with the beneficial results of the right amount) are such things as nausea vomiting, diarrhea, and slow or irregular pulse. Yes, the effect can be detected in a cardiogram.

Not So

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that to take warm baths with epinephrine salts affects the heart. Is this so?"—H.R."

No. Many can be relieved of constipation, both mentally and physically, in short, discover a faint ally, by reading my booklet "The taste of what it means not to relax—or even have the relaxation that comes with moving."

Neenah School Pupils
Contribute $400 to

NEENAH — Contributions to the Junior Red Cross enrollment program by Neenah public and parochial schools totaled $401.47, Donald Scott, acting superintendent of schools and Junior Red Cross chairman, reported today. Contributions were received last week with $107.68 raised in the high school and $293.79 in the grade schools. The amount contributed is eight times greater than the national suggestion which is a penny per child. He commended the willingness of the children to help in the Red Cross program.

A 5-Man Committee Again this year is assisting in St. Mary High School's supplementary science instruction program, which was begun in 1958. At the end of a weekly meeting preparing to depart were Paul Klein, left, chairman, and Dr. Jerome Riese. Not shown were Ed Graves, Richard Auchter and James Lloyd.

Omro Tops List

Neenah City Assessed Value 37 Per Cent of State Figure

OSHKOSH — Assessed value of townships of Winnebago County's governmental units range from a low of 36.77 per cent to a high of 102.28 per cent of the state's equalized valuation figures with the average being 52.92 per cent.

Based upon a report of the state taxation department's district assessment office, Neenah is on the low end with the 36.77 per cent of valuation rate while Omro's assessed valuation tops the state equalized valuation ratio.

The Neenah Council has named a special study committee to consider a revaluation of the city but this committee has not reported back any recommendation as to how and when to conduct a revaluation.

Menasha is valued at 52.94 per cent of true value and Oshkosh at 53.53 per cent.

Town of Menasha — Town of Menasha with a 39.21 per cent ratio is second low while Town of Black Wolf is third with a 39.31 per cent figure. Town of Neenah is now at 71.47 per cent of true value after being revalued several years ago.

Other ratios are Town of Clayton, recently revalued, 99.50 per cent; Town of Vinland, also recently revalued, 99.51 per cent; Town of Winchester, 53.39 per cent; Town of Winnebago, recently re-

MENASHA — At a family dinner on Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Page, 319 Broad St., announced the engagement of their daughter, Judy, to James Van Evra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Evra, Niles, Ill.

Miss Page attended Carroll College and was graduated from Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind. She is presently working for her master's degree at Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Her fiancé is a student at Valparaiso University. Both young people spent the Thanksgiving weekend at the Page home.

John P. Cardin Member of Firm In California

MENASHA — John Paul Cardin, son of Mrs. Avis Cardin, 1513 E. Tracy St., Appleton, who is presently a member of the law firm of Cardin and Miller, Riverside, Calif., is one of the outstanding young attorneys in that area, according to a bulletin from the California Bar association.

Cardin was graduated from Menasha High School in 1951 where he was president of the student council. He attended the University of Wisconsin and University of Wisconsin Law School and passed the bar examinations in Wisconsin and California. He served two years in the air force at March Field, Calif., as a lieutenant in the judge advocate office.

He is married to the former Lorraine Wember of Kenosha and has four children.

Theda Clark Official:

Common Household Items Cause Of Many Child Poisoning Cases

NEENAH — More than 250,000 chance your child has swallowed poisons and will not harm the items manufactured for home use anything poisonous, call a doctor. Brungard said that over 250,000 household items can be poisonous to children if taken internally. From left to right are James Banks, Neenah Club president; Brungard; Dr. Ernest Krueger, St. Elizabeth Hospital; Dr. Joseph Benton, Appleton Memorial Hospital; Dr. F. N. Panch, Theda Clark; and George Elvers, Neenah pharmacist, active in establishment of a poison control center at Theda Clark Hospital.

The list includes such common items as floor wax, washing detergent, finger nail polish, shampoo, moth balls, shoe polish, aspirin, liquid cleaners, live liquid make up, and spot remover.

Poisons in the home are just as lethal to small children as a loaded gun or matches. Brungard said almost all accidental poisoning cases are the result of the false assumption by parents that poisons have been put out of reach of children, he added.

Never underestimate the ingenuity of children to get something they want.

Brungard said that many of these household items come in colorful packages and have pleasant odors and attract small children.

A great aid in the treatment of poisoning cases has been the establishment of a poison control treatment center at Theda Clark Hospital.

The center has antidotes for 15,000 known poisons and a prepared text which has all pertinent data on poisons and their antidotes.

Three Sections
The text is divided into three sections: one listing poisons by their known names, the second is listed by trade name and the third section lists poisons by category, such as poisonous ingredients used in rug cleaners in general.

All Neenah-Menasha pharmacists also have a copy of this text.

Brungard gave several suggestions to prevent accidental poisonings. First of all, he said, parents should be aware of the danger exists. Keep the telephone number of your family doctor handy at all times. Do not tell children that medicine is candy. Do not take medicine in the dark. Keep medicine and other poisons out of their original containers.

Keep the container if poisoning should occur. Keep all containers tightly closed and discard any containers if the label has come off.

Don't take any chances. Brungard said. "If there is any

Hewitt's Bows To Green Bay

19-11 Deficit in 4th Period Leads To 73-67 Defeat

GREEN BAY — (AP) — Hewitt's 19-11 deficit in the 4th period led to a 73-67 defeat in the Badger Amateur Basketball Association opener for both clubs here Sunday night.

A poor fourth period contributed to the Green Bay's downfall. After leading 20-13 at the quarter, they led 42-24 at the half and 54-40 at the end of the third frame. However, in the final quarter they were limited to 11 points while the Badgers picked up 14.

Green Bay's forward, S. Norbert and Steven Point College star had 20 points to pace the winners. Lee Merriam hit 11, Bob Hoerning and Dave Telle 12 and Roy Smits 13.

Gordy Rush's 13 points and Hewitt's Tom Malchow added 12 and Ralph Kresow had 10. Hewitt's opens its home schedule this weekend against Kewaukee.

MENASHA — Green Bay Premontré basketball Coach Clayton Maloney has predicted a 5-team expanded to eight teams with the race in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference — but for second place. He has conceded the championship to St. Mary before the Zephyrs have taken the court against a league opponent.

A sketch of each team's prospects follows.

St. Mary — Lettermen include Marinette Catholic Central in the Koerner and Jerry Laemrich, only league game played thus far, both of whom were on the second Two more clubs, St. Mary and Laemrich scored 53 points in league campaigns Wednesday night at Little Chute.

Penning's, which is expected to strongly dispute Maloney's pre-Stumpff (16), Tony Rechner (15), dictions, swings into league battle Dec. 6 against the Zephyrs (11).

Graduation took Dean Schreindoesn't play a conference game or (143), Pete Vanderhyden (115), until Dec. 10 when it is host to Mike Herliche (63), and Jim Rueckl and Norm Brown, who saw Penning's

In non-league games tonight, Premontré goes to Sturgeon Bay, Marinette Catholic moves into the 6-4 Upper Peninsula to face Stephenson, Mich., and Penning's is home to Alcona.

23 Straight Wins
St. Mary won the championship last year with 10 straight wins and has been unbeaten in its last 23 games against a league opponent. The Zephyrs, working with a 12-1 core of eight lettermen, downed East De Pere 56-52 and St. Benedict 72-45 in a pair of non-league starts.

Quarterbacks Begin Planning For 1961 Season

NEENAH — Preliminary plans for the 1961 Neenah Quarterback Club activities were discussed at John Craig (22). The Cadets have a meeting of its directors Monday evening at the Whiting Boathouse. Candidates for the vacant director posts were Frank Wiesner, Jr.,

Herb Kruse, Don Metz and "Tex" Harding. Art Hedlund and Lyal Stilt were appointed to a ticket committee and Ralph Mueller, Paul Stevenson and Harry Miller were named to the committee to contact possible speakers for next year's dinner.

The committees will make their reports at a January meeting. Other items discussed included an advisory committee and a possible all-sports banquet.

Collectivization Not Easy Pill for Cuba

Sugar, Cattle Workers Growing Uneasy, Talk Against Castro

Harold K. Milks, chief of The Associated Press Caribbean service and former bureau chief in Moscow, visited Cuba's rich sugar and cattle areas to find out how things are going under the Castro regime. Here is a report.

CAMAGUEY, Cuba (AP)—Thousands of eastern Cuba's sugar and cattle workers are finding Soviet-style collectivization under Fidel Castro a bitter pill to swallow.

Many of them are saying so openly, despite the menace of Castro's Communist-armed militiamen, who are penetrating every segment of life in Oriente and Camaguey provinces.

A tour of these key provinces in Cuba's economy showed growing dissatisfaction among rural workers as well as city businessmen.

The opposition is taking many forms—from joking about learning Russian to outright physical opposition to the Castro revolutionary government and its program.

Four Students
A Russian refugee who moved with the times and opened a school to teach Russian had trouble finding four students. By contrast, English classes at the Cuban-American Binational Institute are still crowded.

"We supported Fidel when he was fighting (ousted President Fulgencio) Batista and many of us joined in fighting on his side," said one tall Camagueyan outside one of the new People's Stores where collective farm or ranch worker may buy from the government on carefully controlled credits. "But we are finding it harder every day to live on promises."

Frequently bare essentials, such as beans and rice, the traditional food of Cuban rural workers for years, are hard to find. The tall Camagueyan and his companion complained that the quality of the goods in the People's Stores is low and the prices high.

A companion went shopping for shoes in the People's Store. He found a pair of Cuban shoes priced at $17.

Too Much to Pay
"That's too much for a pair of shoes," he told the storekeeper, "especially the kind you furnish here."

A friend advised him to buy two pairs of cheaper shoes for $7 a pair but added the warning, "If you do you will be barefooted again in two weeks."

The storekeeper, an employee of Castro's National Institute of Agrarian Reform, joined in the general laughter.

A survey through Oriente, Camaguey, Las Villas and Matanzas provinces reflects little business or industrial activity. Government public works programs appeared limited to rebuilding long stretches of the central highway, which runs from one end of Cuba to the other. But even on this project there were long stretches of torn up road on which no work was being done. Some Cubans said the Public Works Ministry had run out of money for the projects.

Once-busy ranches, which formerly furnished Cuba all the meat the country needed, with some left over for export, appeared almost deserted. The few cattle seen were less than fair specimens.

Meat Shortage
"Castro's government doesn't know how to grow cattle," said one veteran rancher. "They drive them too hard and they feed them wrong. I can see a big meat shortage coming up next year, even if they do import three million pesos—$3 million at the official rate—worth of breeding stock. What they have destroyed can't be replaced in a few months."

Why, if so many people are against Castro, is he still in power?

A Camaguey automobile filling station operator gave a ready answer.

"We have complaints but Castro has guns. We are a lot of unorganized people feeling alike in our opposition to Castro and to communism but he has the organization—army and militia. Anyone who openly acts against that combination is crazy," he explained.

There are still many Cubans in all walks of life who are waiting for the United States to "do something to help us." Many of these

Complaints Received On Loose Rubbish

NEENAH — Wayne Bryan, director of public works, today asked Neenah residents to put their burnable rubbish in containers that will not be blown over by the wind.

He said his office received several complaints Monday of papers and other rubbish being blown across lawns as a result of yesterday's high wind.

Christmas Wreaths Will be Delivered Starting Tomorrow

NEENAH — Christmas wreaths ordered by Neenah residents from members of the Boys' Brigade will be delivered starting tomorrow night, Jack Casper, coordinator, said today.

Orders for the wreaths have gone over the 3,000 mark, he said. The sixth grade sold 1,600 wreaths, a final tabulation showed. Final reports from the other grades are not complete.

The goal this year is 5,000. Last year Brigade boys sold a little over 4,000 wreaths.

Society Plans Dec. 8 Party For Christmas

Mexican Customs Added Feature for Menasha Group

MENASHA — Colorful Christmas customs of Mexico will be added to the Menasha Historical Society's annual Christmas party, scheduled for Dec. 8 at Elisha D. Smith public library.

The Christmas celebration is open to the public, says Mrs. John Welterding, president.

Mrs. Miguel Wimer, Society of Guadalupe president, has arranged for her group to present the traditional Mexican Posadas ceremony and festival, a celebration which runs during the nine days before Christmas.

Besides the Mexican celebration, the Menasha Historical Society again will present music, customs and delicacies of England, Germany, Poland, France and the Netherlands.

Polish Christmas songs will be sung by Mrs. Marcella Kundy, Mrs. Don Thornton, Mrs. Clifford Klutz, Mrs. Julian Konetzke, and Mrs. Alfred Konetzke.

Sidney Wilson and Mrs. John Marine will direct English carol singing and Mrs. Laurence Lindquist will sing favorite German songs.

The Rutten family will return to Menasha with Dutch traditions of celebrating Christmas. R. C. Carrigan will read James Whitcomb Riley's "Out to Old Aunt Mary's."

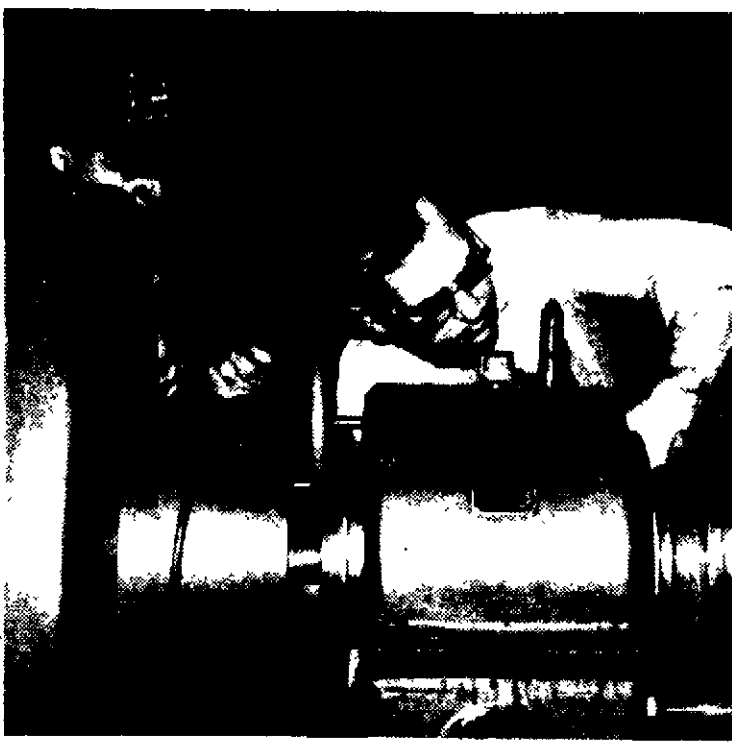

The old-fashioned Christmas tree will be decorated under direction of Mrs. M. G. Auer and Mrs. Nora Page the night of Dec. 5. Also to be arranged will be an antique toy display.

Muni Cage League Resumes Schedule

MENASHA — The Menasha Muni Basketball League resumes play at the Butte des Morts Gym tonight after a week's layoff. Banta's and the Menasha Merchants vie at 7:30 and the Menasha Macs and Marathon meet at 8:30. St. John draws a bye.

Fisherman Fined

OSHKOSH — Howard Schroeder 38, 306 Dale Ave., Oshkosh, was fined $10 and costs by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning after he pleaded guilty of having three walleyes over the possession limit of 10. He was arrested in Oshkosh Nov. 23 by conservation wardens.

Menasha's Municipal Electricity generating plant Monday night placed its 7,500-kilowatt-hour generator back into service after three days of repair work, necessitated by a fire in the brush holder. Upper photo, Erwin Becker, right, assistant chief engineer, and Daniel Barker, power plant maintenance man, readied a jig to hold a surface grinder, to resurface the two scored collector rings (below Becker's left arm) damaged in the fire. Lower photo, Becker held one of the burned-out brush holders.

Appleton Man Denies Drunken Driving Charge in Neenah

NEENAH — Robert S. Peotter, 28, 200 E. Wilson St., Appleton, pleaded innocent of drunken driving Monday in Police Justice E. P. Arpin's court. Trial was set for 1:30 p.m. Dec. 19.

Peotter was arrested by Neenah police at 11:08 p.m. Saturday after his car struck three parked cars on W. Wisconsin Avenue in Neenah. The parked cars were owned by Paul G. Zemke, 460 Nicolet Blvd., Neenah; Judith Sell, 648 Congress St., Neenah, and Viola M. LaCrosse, 446 E. Columbia Ave., Neenah.

He was headed east and the cars were parked on the south side of the street. After the accident his

Cites Industry Need

Martin Discusses Tax Problem With Neenah Town Board

NEENAH — Whether Wisconsin's personal and corporate income tax is too high for the welfare of the state is one matter which the state legislature must look at during its coming session, David O. Martin, assemblyman-elect from the Third District told Town of Neenah board members Monday night.

Expansion of industry and making it more competitive with the industries of surrounding states is very essential, he pointed out and he discussed with the town board members the need to develop industries in some of the areas suffering from a lack of industry.

One important problem facing the legislature is how to finance the estimated $70 million increase in the state budget and a second is how to distribute state taxes, such as the income tax, back to the localities. Martin pointed out the governor's "blue ribbon" committee has been spending considerable time on the study of the distribution item.

The assemblyman-elect said he was approaching the taxation matter with an open mind and was interested in learning the opinions of those within the district.

Reply to 14 Questions From City Councils its, operations and vouchers on spending, all available to city officials, he advised.

By eliminating the storm water from sanitary sewers, the two cities can eliminate much of the deposit of waste materials along the shoreline near the disposal plant. An added outfall sewer, to carry effluent (including untreated raw sewage, bypassed during storm conditions) will be installed in the river channel as part of the proposed plant project. Presently, when more than 14 million gallons of sewage pass through the plant in any day, the excess is untreated. Pumpages have risen to the rate of 36 million gallons a day during heavy rainfall periods.

Clifford said a sewer cleaning company has found the main 33-inch outfall sewer in the river is not clogged.

Present screening facilities are adequate, Clifford said engineers have advised. Sludge drying facilities are being increased, and may not need further expansion for a secondary treatment, he added.

Garbage Handling
On mixing cans and bottles with garbage burned in the incinerator, Clifford pointed out the result could be clogged and damaged grates. The cans would be caught and the glass fused.

Since up to five trucks at one time can unload at the garbage pit, the only delay he saw might be for weighing of trucks when several arrive at a time.

In a separate letter, Clifford told Mayor John Klein of Menasha of a garbage collection system used in other cities to save collection time. It involves leaving collection men on the routes, with an empty truck replacing a full truck on the routes.

Presently, full crews ride back to the plant, where garbage is dumped, then ride back in an empty vehicle to resume collections. Clifford said some places use a mobile radio-telephone for dispatching the garbage trucks.

Klein said another joint meeting of the Neenah and Menasha councils may be held to discuss the report.

Out-of-state residents also do not pay the income tax. Advantages are that it does not require a new bureau or enforcement force and that it is based on ability to pay although a readjusting may be needed.

It does though place a definite burden on the amount of capital available for industrial expansion, Martin warned.

The assemblyman-elect backed the present prohibition against the state going into debt, saying you don't solve your tax problem by going into debt since that plan solves it for only a year. "We should be able to pay as we go," he stressed.

He also discussed with the town board members the present law on school district consolidations.

Asks Advice On Billing of Assessments

Clerk Uncertain if Charges May Go Into 1960 Tax Roll

MENASHA — City Clerk Harry Kind has requested city attorney's and finance committee advice on billings for special assessments on this year's street repair work. Kind poses two questions: Are uncollected accounts for oiling and graveling to be inserted into the 1960 tax roll?

If so, are such charges less than $20 to be inserted in one year's roll, as with other assessments? Kind notes he can find no authority to insert the special assessments into the tax roll.

In the last 10 days, 900 statements have gone to Menasha property owners whose streets were sealed and gravelled. Of the $13,000 billed, about $900 has been paid. Before the end of 1960, Kind must make up the tax roll.

Other assessments for curb-gutter, sewer and sidewalk, can be paid on five to 10 year bases. No definite statement ever has been made on the street sealing assessments, adopted in 1957.

Steffens is expected to give an opinion to the finance committee Wednesday night.

Pressure has been building up in the council to abolish the direct assessment policy on street resurfacing or maintenance projects.

God's Kingdom Writer Laments Of Grace, Glory Change in Mexico Asked in Prayer

Seek True Faith,
Extension of Work,
Rev. Ziesemer Says

"Thy Kingdom come," the second petition of the Lord's prayer, was explained by the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of Mt. Olive Lutheran Church, in his sermon Sunday. The pastor said that although it is the shortest of seven petitions in the Lord's prayer, it contains "a world of thought which takes in all the earth and even extends to the life beyond."

"The Bible speaks of and describes three kingdoms of God: the kingdom of power, the kingdom of grace and the kingdom of glory."

Manifests Grace

"The kingdom of power is the kingdom wherein God manifests his power in nature, the world and the universe. We need not, and do not, pray that the kingdom of power come to us and to our fellow men, because we, together with all others, are citizens of this kingdom by birth, whether we want to be or not."

"The kingdom of grace is the kingdom wherein God manifests his grace or life in Christ Jesus. That is, the Christian church on earth, called the church militant, engaged in spiritual warfare. In this kingdom God rules with His grace, love and mercy over its citizens, the believers," the Rev. Mr. Ziesemer said.

Safe Guidance

The kingdom of grace and the kingdom of glory are the ones that are referred to in the prayer, the Rev. Mr. Ziesemer pointed out. By asking God's kingdom to come, we ask for true faith and a Godly life at all times, for the extension of God's saving kingdom throughout the world, and for safe guidance to the heavenly kingdom, he said.

This means that although the kingdom of God comes of itself, we ask that it may come unto us also, the pastor said. This is done "When our heavenly Father gives us His holy spirit—so that by His grace we believe His holy word and lead a Godly life, here in time and hereafter in eternity."

Great Need

The Rev. Mr. Ziesemer pointed out that we pray for the preservation of the true Christian faith and for the extension of God's kingdom throughout the world.

"The great need of the Christian church today is 'Kingdom men,' men who are deeply interested in the coming of God's kingdom into the hearts and lives of men," the Rev. Mr. Ziesemer said.

The final prayer is that God bring us all safely to his heavenly kingdom, he added. "We Christians have no abiding city here, but we see one to come."

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

MEXICO CITY — In all life there comes a moment when a man knows that a parting forever is at hand.

It may be a moment in battle when he is certain, beyond any mere prompting of mind, that he is going forward into ultimate crisis. He may live. He may die. But from an instinct older by ages than reason he is sure that he will never be the same again.

It may be only that trifling moment when it suddenly strikes a man that melodies he had long loved have gone from his memory—when a little and unimportant form of dream has left him for so long as he may live. Such a moment is significant only to those who value a kind of im-provident happiness above what is best for us.

It's Come in Mexico

It has come, I believe, in Mexico.

This land for all its strides in the past few years, is not a decisive weight in the cold war or anything like that. The fate of no possible world hangs upon what they do or say in Mexico.

All the same, a moment of parting is here and it deserves recognition by all who have cherished this crazy, this gallant and sometimes brutal land. While the Mexicans are celebrating the 50th anniversary of the 1910 revolution, the brisk and reasonably well-fed present is in every way overcoming the colorful, the hungry past.

Those were wonderful songs of the old Mexico—of the dove that flew away, or the vaquero lamenting that his girl has abandoned him for very small faults like his habitual drunkenness and his already existing marriage.

Some of them are still being sung a bit. But, I suspect, they are being sung for the last time in a national celebration in an all-nation way.

A little while longer and mainly one will hear in Mexico only those rather brittle or else stickily sentimental tunes so familiar in any juke box in Denver or Des Moines.

A day or two ago in Puebla, a town which was old in 1650, I sat in a bull ring and saw one of the last, dying samples of the culture of that old Mexico. It was a day in commemoration of the revolution. At the start there were a very few dances which went back to the distant Aztecs. But this was only the smallest bow to the past.

Gymnastic Show

The great bulk of the show came in the coldly drilled and coldly precise gymnastics of thousands of school boys and girls, done not to "La Paloma" but to the airs one hears every day in New York or Chicago. Over this scene there hung an aura not merely of goodbye to yesterday but of hurry up for the tomorrow in which all children shall be tall and straight—but in which none will be allowed to make a mess of his assignment and still remain in the company of the comers.

Probably all this is good for disciplined hands and in the past has suffered all too much from individualism and romanticism. But somehow I cannot see it as all good.

Puebla is so madly progressive as to please the most progressive sociologist ever graduated from Vassar. But in Mexico one does not really want Vassar. One longs for the dove which flew away, and now has fled away forever.

Pre-Fox River Valley Conference skirmishing has shed little new light on the likely course of events in the league chase which begins Friday night.

Unbeaten Fond du Lac, possessor of the best non-league record, underscored its contender status with wins over Neenah (66-56), Antigo (51-45) and St. Mary's Springs (69-57). The Cardinals play their final non-league test, tonight in Kaukauna.

Manitowoc, the only FRVC team ranked ahead of Fondy in pre-season speculation has played only twice — crushing Two Rivers (78-49) and losing by one (71-70) to red-hot Menasha.

If a team can be called a disappointment on the basis of only two games, it's Sheboygan North. The Raiders, tabbed as a probable third-place finisher, lost to Two Rivers (60-56) and to Kaukauna (53-47).

Sheboygan South and Appleton, picked previously as almost even bets for fourth or fifth place berths, showed some signs of meriting darkhorse labels in the conference race. Each won two of three pre-FRVC encounters.

AHS, playing a somewhat tougher schedule than the Red-men, beat Kimberly (59-57) and Madison West (63-57) and lost to Menasha (54-49). South nipped West Bend (62-61) and trounced Racine Horlick (72-52) before bowing to Kimberly (66-44).

Oshkosh, after opening with a 67-54 win over New London, fell to Madison East (71-54) and to Stevens Point (64-62).

The two Green Bay clubs have played only one game apiece, affording little chance for an appraisal. East lost to Clintonville, 52-41, and West lost to Antigo, 52-49.

Overall, the FRVC has played 500 ball in its first 18 non-conference engagements.

For Friday's opening league scrap, it will be Manitowoc at Appleton, Fond du Lac at Oshkosh, East at North and South at West.

MU Varsity Meets Frosh Five Tonight

With junior guard Joe Scanlon sidelined with an ankle sprain, Coach Ed Hickey may start four sophomores with veteran Don Kojis in the lineup for the start of the regular season against North Dakota Saturday.

The Warriors' top sophomores boast plenty of height. They include 6-3 Ron Glaser, 6-8 Lee Borowski, 6-7 Dave Erickson, 6-4 Bob Hornak, 6-8 Len Jefferson and 6-9 John Fedders.

Hickey will conduct a class in basketball technique for the fans before the 8 15 p.m. tip-off.

NFL Postpones Meeting to Pick Playoff Sites

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has postponed until next Tuesday a meeting to determine sites for possible playoff in the National Football League's Eastern and Western divisions races.

The selection determined by a flip of a coin had been scheduled for today but "we'd spend the whole week flipping coins to cover all the possibilities," Rozelle said. Only Dallas has been mathematically eliminated in the Western race which could end in a five-way tie. In the Eastern race, the Philadelphia Eagles have a comfortable lead but both Cleveland and New York could tie for the title.

Beloit, Monmouth, St. Olaf Quints Favored in MC Race

Improvement Seen for Viking Team

The 1960-1 Midwest Conference basketball chase looms as a wide-open affair, with Beloit, Monmouth and St. Olaf given a slight edge over the other seven entries.

AHS, playing a somewhat tougher schedule than the Red-men, beat Kimberly (59-57) and Madison West (63-57) and lost to Menasha (54-49). South nipped West Bend (62-61) and trounced Racine Horlick (72-52) before bowing to Kimberly (66-44).

Oshkosh, after opening with a 67-54 win over New London, fell to Madison East (71-54) and to Stevens Point (64-62).

The two Green Bay clubs have played only one game apiece, affording little chance for an appraisal. East lost to Clintonville, 52-41, and West lost to Antigo, 52-49.

Overall, the FRVC has played 500 ball in its first 18 non-conference engagements.

For Friday's opening league scrap, it will be Manitowoc at Appleton, Fond du Lac at Oshkosh, East at North and South at West.

With junior guard Joe Scanlon sidelined with an ankle sprain, Coach Ed Hickey may start four sophomores with veteran Don Kojis in the lineup for the start of the regular season against North Dakota Saturday.

The Warriors' top sophomores boast plenty of height. They include 6-3 Ron Glaser, 6-8 Lee Borowski, 6-7 Dave Erickson, 6-4 Bob Hornak, 6-8 Len Jefferson and 6-9 John Fedders.

Hickey will conduct a class in basketball technique for the fans before the 8 15 p.m. tip-off.

NFL Postpones Meeting to Pick Playoff Sites

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has postponed until next Tuesday a meeting to determine sites for possible playoff in the National Football League's Eastern and Western divisions races.

The selection determined by a flip of a coin had been scheduled for today but "we'd spend the whole week flipping coins to cover all the possibilities," Rozelle said. Only Dallas has been mathematically eliminated in the Western race which could end in a five-way tie. In the Eastern race, the Philadelphia Eagles have a comfortable lead but both Cleveland and New York could tie for the title.

Spartan, NU Quartet Agree to Play for North Squad Dec. 26

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Four football players, first to be enrolled for the North-South game here Dec. 6, agreed Monday to play for the North squad.

They include Northwestern University fullback Mike Stock and quarterback Larry Woods, and Michigan State Guard Fred Boylen and halfback Ike Gumsley.

Packers Must Break Jinx to Win Sunday

Green Bay Has Lost 7 Straight In Wrigley Field

GREEN BAY (AP)—The Green Bay Packers are going to have to snap an old jinx against the Bears in Chicago Sunday to stay alive in the National Football League's Western Division race.

The Packers have lost seven straight to the Bears at Wrigley Field since they managed a 41-28 victory under the coaching regime of Gene Ronzani in 1952.

Although apparently kayoed in the championship race by the Thanksgiving Day upset by Detroit, Green Bay was given a new lease by San Francisco's shocking 30-22 triumph over mighty Baltimore.

Now, with three games left, the first four teams in the Western Division are separated by just one game. The Colts are on top with a 6-3 record, followed by the Bears with 5-3-1 and the Packers and 4-ers, each with 5-4 marks.

The Packers probably have the toughest task in the first place battle. After meeting Chicago, they travel to the West Coast for games in San Francisco and a regular season windup in Los Angeles.

Moore Decisions Buddy Turman

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Old Archie Moore, currently on the NBA blacklist for failure to defend his world's light heavyweight championship in the required time, declined Monday night to discuss the four-way struggle in the Western Division. He still was upset Moore, who admits to 43, wants to give Donnie Fieoman, the Texas light heavyweight champion, a chance.

Fleoman appeared on the same card and beat George "Scrap" Johnson of Oklahoma City Wednesday morning at the Church of the Annunciation in Green Bay.

Ulwelling Scores 12, Don Hearden 13 in Warm-Up

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team, tuned up for its season's opener by rolling over the Badger freshmen 121-79 Monday night as six varsity players hit in double figures.

The Badgers, who meet Butler at Indianapolis in a non-conference game Thursday, broke in front at the start and pulled away from the freshmen. The varsity held a 66-39 halftime lead.

Capt. Jim Biggs topped the varsity with 16 points as 14 members of the 17-man squad joined in the scoring.

Other varsity players who scored in double figures were sophomore Tom Gwyn (14), Marty Charrity (13), Jack Ulwelling (12), Dick Dutrisac (12) and Tom Black (10).

Ron Jackson, a 6-3 1/2 freshman forward from Chicago Tilden Tech, captured individual scoring honors with 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws. Don Hearden of Kimberly tallied 13 points for the frosh.

National Grid Title Goes to Minnesota

Gophers Nip Mississippi And Iowa

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota, the comeback team of the year, won the national college football championship today in the final Associated Press poll of the 1960 season.

In a remarkably close vote, the Golden Gophers, last-place team of the Big Ten last year and co-champions this season, beat out Mississippi's Southeastern Conference champions for the title, Iowa, which battled Minnesota right down to the wire and drew even in the Big Ten race, was a very close third.

The difference on the ballots of 48 sports writers and broadcasters forming The Associated Press regional boards, was 1 1/2 first-place votes and 2 1/2 points. One voter, unable to decide between the Big Ten co-champions, split his vote between Minnesota and Iowa.

Gets 17 1/2 Firsts

That gave Minnesota 17 1/2 first place votes and a total of 433 1/2 points on the basis of 10 for each first place, 9 for second, etc. down to one for 10th. Mississippi concluding a highly successful season last Saturday with a 35-9 victory over Mississippi State, drew 16 votes for first place and 411 points. Iowa with 12 1/2 firsts, had 407 1/2 points.

Voting this year was done by 48 members of Associated Press boards representing the eight NCAA districts.

Minnesota was declared national champion in the first Associated Press ranking poll in 1936, when the Gophers' string of 8 games without a loss was ended by a 6-0 defeat by Northwestern. Minnesota and sixth-ranked Washington are scheduled to meet in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1.

Mississippi carries its 9-0-1 season record into the Sugar Bowl game against Rice. Navy, No. 4, and Missouri, No. 5, clash in the Orange Bowl; Arkansas, No. 7, and Duke, No. 10, meet in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama, No. 9, plays Texas in the Dec. 17 Bluebonnet Bowl.

The final ranking of the leaders, with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Minnesota (17 1/2)	433 1/2
2. Mississippi (16)	411
3. Iowa (12 1/2)	407 1/2
4. Navy	262
5. Missouri	255
6. Washington (2)	250
7. Arkansas	212
8. Ohio State	178
9. Alabama	153
10. Duke	46

Others receiving votes were: Kansas 40, Baylor 35, Auburn 25, Yale 17, Michigan State 16, Penn State 15, New Mexico 8, Florida 6, Syracuse and Purdue 4 each, Rice 3, Oregon 2, Tennessee, Michigan and Texas, 1 each.

Jack Vainisi Lived In Shadow of Death

Packers Were the Only Employer Ever For 33-Year-Old

GREEN BAY—Jack Vainisi had just one job in his short life—the Packers. He lived only 33 years and spent nearly one-third of it with the Packers. He was graduated from Notre Dame in June of 1950 and joined Green Bay a few months later.

A victim of rheumatic fever, Jack lived in the shadow of death. This writer was close to Jack. We had something special in common and often kidded each other about it. Just this, we were the lone active "survivors" of the Ronzani regime.

For a young feller, Jack experienced a tremendous amount of (Green Bay) Packers history—at its roughest (1953 and 1958) and its return to respectability (1959).

Lourdes Perils FVL's Perfect Cage Record

Foes Inaugurate New Series Here Tonight

Oshkosh Lourdes will present a serious challenge to Fox Valley Lutheran's perfect basketball record tonight.

Lourdes, which has won two of three starts, invades the FVL High School gym. The Foxes have won all three of their games.

The contest inaugurates a new basketball series between the schools. They met in a 1960 foot ball game (with the Knights winning) but did not get together in basketball last season.

Freedom has been their only common cage foe. FVL beat the Irish, 53-35; and Lourdes stopped Freedom, 60-46. Lourdes has beaten St. Gregory of St. Nazianz but lost to Premontre (61-49).

Average is 52.7

The Foxes also stopped Stockbridge (in overtime) and Little Chute St. John. FVL has scored between 50 and 55 points in each of its games (a 52.7 average) while holding its foes to a mere 42.3.

Balanced scoring has also been a FVL feature. Dennis Dobberstein leads with 42 points. Vern Dobberstein and Dave Schweppe are right behind, with 37 and 36, respectively. Darrell Mindel ranks fourth, with 28.

The tallest starter for each team measures 6-foot-2. They are FVL's Mindel and the Knights' Kevin MacDonald. The leading Lourdes scoring threats are MacDonald, Mike Schumert and Dave Putzer.

Jack Vainisi Lived In Shadow of Death

He worked as administrative aide and chief talent scout for nine seasons before becoming business manager and continuing as chief talent scout under Vince Lombardi.

The work was heavy, detailish and sometimes nerve-racking. But he had an extra load.

"I could go at any time," Jack told me on a stroll one day at Bear Mountain last August. He half smiled and patted the heart side of his chest, adding:

Good Start

"I'd like to see something good happen to the club. You know it's been for all these years. We got a good start last year."

Vainisi was touchy about the Mike Casp, a 205-pound guard draft. He dug up the names, put 'em in order with name, rank, elected captain of the 1961 Army serial number, etc., and the coaches then made their selections, with Jack adding an occasional recommendation. He fretted to respectability (1959).

Notre Dame President Not Panicky Over Disastrous Campaign

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — of about 6,000. These five per cent stamped far and wide as an "academic" question is whether Notre Dame is dead as a college football power, incapable of ever rising again to national championship stature.

In the wake of this season's disastrous campaign (two wins and eight losses) which matched the record low of 1956 in Notre Dame's football history, this writer searched the campus for what promise may be held for the school's grid future under its new president, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, said "we're not pushing the panic button."

Coach Joe Kuharich, while suggesting modern football works in cycles, said he was "weighing things in my mind," when questioned about continuing at the Irish helm. His four-year contract extends through 1962.

A segment of the student body demonstrated against the school's avowed policy of "academic excellence," which most of the uncounted Irish rooting legions blame for the decline and fall of Notre Dame football.

"We want football, we want football," a throng of about 800 chanted in front of Corby Hall, where Father Hesburgh and other faculty priests reside.

A few hours after this demonstration, Father Hesburgh spoke on the campus radio system.

He blamed the demonstration on five per cent of the student body

Bobcats Will Play Cage Preliminary

Globetrotter Show To Start Earlier Thursday Night

GREEN BAY — A special basketball game has been arranged for Thursday night when the Harlem Globetrotters bring their 1960-61 all-star show to the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena.

Six Green Bay hockey Bobcats, led by player-coach John Mayasich, will take on a team to be announced soon.

In addition to Mayasich, the Bobcat basketball team will include Dick Dougherty, Bruce Shutee, Jackie Poole, Jim Mattson and Tom Neveau.

The preliminary game starts at 7 p.m., a half-hour prior to the previously announced starting time for the show.

Following the prelim, Olsen and Johnson present their farcical "Hellzapoppin'" and the Trotters, coached by Terry with comedian Meadowlark Lem-Brennan, who was fired after the 1958 season often was badly beaten.

It is evident that Father Hesburgh, who has been Notre Dame's president since 1952, is vitally interested in football as well as stressing academic excellence.

"We have no intention of dismissing Kuharich," he continued. "We still feel he can develop a team of which Notre Dame can be proud without compromising our academic standards."

"If the inference is true that poor students are needed to play good football, I see no excuse for collegiate football."

Bowl-Bound Teams Concentrating On Getting Injured Back in Shape

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football's bowl-bound eleven, deservedly resting on their laurels, today were concentrating on getting their wounded warriors into shape for the post-season classics before resuming full-scale workouts.

Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference champions, who met Arkansas' Southwest Conference tigers in the Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl, were the lone exception as the head coaches of the 15 other teams headed for major bowls rewarded their players with 10-day vacations.

The Blue Devils (7-2) close out the regular season Saturday against UCLA at Los Angeles. "That's the game we're focusing our attention on now," said Coach Bill Murray.

Cotton Bowl The Razorbacks (8-2), who'll resume practice a week from Friday, expect to have No. 1 full-back Joe Paul Alberty at full strength for the Cotton Bowl along with end Leslie Letsinger. Both have been hobbled most of the year.

Co-Big Ten champ Minnesota (8-1) which meets Washington and Bluebonnet opponents in the Rose Bowl, expects (7-3) and Alabama (18-1). These of the season, may be available for its Sun Bowl date with Utah.

The Huskies will be at full strength for their defense of the Rose Bowl title with All-America quarterback Bob Schloredt returning.

Wayne Steinberg rattled a 571 in Hahn's Cigarette Couples circuit, keglung for the Newport. The Raleighs (14-4) lead by two games.

"Dee" Tesmer slapped a 195 game and 511 threesome for women's laurels.

Five Tracks Drop From Racing Group

Move Culminates Lengthy Feud With TRA Vice President

NEW YORK — The Thoroughbred Racing Associations, Inc., a group which makes up a majority of the nation's major horse racing tracks, was shaken to its foundations today by the withdrawal of five track groups.

It was the culmination of a long-standing feud with Spencer J. Drayton, TRA executive vice president.

However, the TRA in its 19th annual convention here issued a statement indicating that it would steer a clear road ahead, following its code of standards in spite of the withdrawal Monday of Garden State Park in New Jersey, Hialeah in Florida, and three Chicago tracks, Arlington and Washington parks, and Balmoral which operates in meetings at Washington Park.

The TRA was organized in 1942 and the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau (TRPB) followed in 1946. Drayton came in to head the TRPB, the policing force of TRA tracks.

Drayton was the FBI agent in charge of Chicago who directed the capture of prohibition gangster Roger Touhy.

When Drayton set up the TRPB he saw to it that about 95 per cent of his force were former FBI men.

Steps On Toes Perhaps he stepped on a few toes. Eugene Mori, president of Garden State Park and Hialeah, was an original member of the TRA board of directors. So was the late Benjamin F. Lindheimer, whose daughter Mrs. Marjorie Lindheimer Everett heads Washington and Arlington parks. Hubert Howard is head of Balmoral.

Hialeah, in Miami, helped organize the TRA.

TRA directors interpreted the resignations to a difference in policy concerning the authority given to Drayton, who is also president of the TRPB.

Several years ago at the TRA convention in San Francisco, objections were raised about Drayton, but the TRA Board refused to accept it and he remained.

The resignations reduced the TRA membership to 43 tracks, all of which contribute roughly $500,000 per year to maintain the racing organization.

Against the Appleton team, Kaukauna trailed by a 21-17 margin in the first period and then came back to count 18 in the second period.

"This is to inform you that the Franklin Field, which seats 16,000, will be used for the championship game if that game is played here in Philadelphia with applications for tickets for Philadelphia."

Dykes Scornful of Milwaukee Offer
Braves Seeking Kuenn, Temple, Purchase Brown From Chisox

LOUISVILLE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves apparently aren't making much headway in their bid to lure second baseman Johnny Temple from the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland manager Jimmy Dykes said Monday that the Indians had rejected a Milwaukee offer for Temple, a National League standout for several years before being obtained by the Indians last year.

"The Braves offered us a guy who can't hit, Chuck Cottier, and a guy who can't run and didn't hit this year, Wes Covington, for Temple," Dykes said. "I will never go for anything like that."

Milwaukee General Manager John McHale, who has been trying to work a deal to get infield and outfield strength, brushed off Dykes' statement.

"Dykes always downgrades the other guy's offer and players," McHale said.

Seek Kuenn
The Braves also have failed so far in their attempts to get outfielder Harvey Kuenn, a resident of Milwaukee, from the Indians. The Braves offered Billy Bruton and either Bob Buhl or Juan Pizarro for Kuenn. The Indians, however, insisted that home run slugger Eddie Mathews be included in the deal while they would throw in Temple.

Although unable to swing an immediate deal, the Braves appear ready to unload Covington, a long ball belter who has produced little the last two seasons. Wes was included with shortstop Johnny Logan in an offer for Daryl Spencer of St. Louis, but the Cardinals decided to hold out for more.

The Braves assigned outfielder Eddie Haas outright to their Louisville farm in the American Association, but didn't take part in the minor league draft. Instead, they filled their roster to the 40-player limit by purchasing catcher Dick Brown, 25, from the Chicago White Sox.

McHale and manager Charlie Dressen held a long meeting. Later Dressen announced that he will order his pitchers and catchers to report for spring training at Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 3 to begin workouts the next day. The rest of the squad will be directed to check in Feb. 28 and be in uniform the following morning.

Post Office vs. A.A.L.

First place Coated Paper meets fifth place Headquarters Company Wednesday in the Appleton Recreation Department's Industrial Basketball League.

Coated downed the Police, 52-31, in latest action. Al Harko scored 12 points to lead balanced scoring for the victors. Dan Gillis counted 12 to top the Police. Post Office shaded Headquarters Company, 54-52, with Bill Geenen counting 18 for the winners. Don Otto's 17 was high for Headquarters.

David Neubauer collected 13 for Vocational School in its 43-40 win over AAL. Elm Tree scored a forfeit win over Hoffman Company.

New York—Obdulio Nunez, 159, Puerto Rico, outpointed Bobby Pen, 158½, Mexico, 10.

Buchholz Tops Rod Laver, Gains Semis

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Barry MacKay, Dayton, Ohio, and Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis gained the semifinals of the Victorian tennis championships today. They were joined by Mike Sangster, 20-year-old Briton.

McKinley won by default when Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy stormed off the court after taking the lead, two sets to one. The Italian objected when Referee Al Cornish permitted McKinley to don spikes. McKinley was declared the winner, 9-11, 3-6, 6-0, default.

MacKay crushed Christian Kuhnke from West Germany, 8-6, 6-3, 0-6, 6-3 while Buchholz turned back Rod Laver, the Australian star, 6-4, 1-6, 7-9, 7-5, 6-2. Sangster whipped Bob Howe of Australia 7-5, 6-1, 4-6, 11-13, 6-3.

Ted Heinritz Blasts 625 Bowling Trio
Elmer Selig Jars 623 Threesome in Builders' Wheel

Ted Heinritz bombed a 625 threesome for Huesman Insurance in Monday evening's Brotherhood League bowling action at Hahn's. One of his games was a 233.

The top solo was Dick Radtke's 244 for Do We Grill, part of a 578. Fuhrmann's (23-13) and Huesman share the lead.

The handsomest Builders League trio at Hahn's was Elmer Selig's 623 for Appleton Concrete. One of his games was a 225.

Wayne Sager rattled a 245 for Ed's Engine Builders and finished with a 564. Hoepfner and Sons (24½) leads by a half game.

Other plus-600 scores were by: Carl Heinritz, 230, 621; Ken Bassers, 235, 605; Ves Gregorius, 229, 605; Earl Bauer, 225, 615.

Trio honors in Hahn's Appleton Lutheran League belonged to Nor-man "Baldy" Egbert and his 618 for Malofsky Motors. Milt Ruppel shot a 235 for first place Mueller Lumber (22-14) and finished with a 559.

Unloads 590
S. M. Timmers, unloaded a 590 in the KC American League at the 41 Bowl, keeling for Alex's (20-13). His club shares first place with Schreifers. Leo Brum downed a 234 for Mid City Beer and finished with a 561.

The only honor tally in the Craftsmen's League at the 41 Bowl was a 561 by Dick Stults of first place Appleton Awning (22-11). Leone Uetzmann rattled a 535 for first place Brettschneiders (21-12) in Hahn's Kitchen Cheaters wheel. One of her games was a 193.

Mary Moen of the Valley Floral whacked a 198.

Jack Suffered
Vainisi suffered right along with Hornung when the Irish phenom fumbled three miles in four trips against the Bears in Chicago last year. Jack shook his head after the game: "That's not Hornung!"

A native of Chicago, it was especially tough for Vainisi to lose in Chicago. But he had the winning privilege only once — in 1952 when the Bays triumphed, 41 to 28.

Vainisi played around Wrigley Field as a kid. "I used to hang around the barber shop where the Bears all got their hair cuts and guys like Nolting, Ronzani, Plasman, Luckman used to chase us around the shop," Jack recalled once.

One year, when the Packers faced a particularly hard game in Wrigley Field, Jack told how the Bears used to talk about Green Bay. "They really worried about the Packers. I don't know why everybody in Green Bay is so worried about the Bears."

Vainisi took part in the drafting of 23 members of the present squad — Tom Bettis, Dan Currie, Andy Cvercko, Boyd Bowler, Dallas Tex — Archie Moore, 189, San Diego, Calif., outpointed Buddy Turman, 186, Tyler, Tex., 10 (nontitle). Donnie Fleeman, 185, Midlothian, Tex., stopped George Johnson, 192, Oklahoma City, 7.

ted about the draft at Bear Mountain:

"I'm worried about Tom Moore. They didn't let him play much (in the All-Star game) but he's been looking better here. We need that fast back."

Jack's prize draftee was Paul Hornung, who was selected as the Packers' bonus choice in 1957 by "Liz" Blackburn. The Packers needed a quarterback and Jack talked overtime for Hornung.

Jack loved Notre Dame. Getting one of the all-time greats at his alma mater to the Packers was easily the highlight of Jack's busy career. "He'll be one of Green Bay's great ones," Jack would say. Hornung never really blossomed until Lombardi installed him as a left half in 1959.

Bill Forester, Joe Francis, Forrest Gregg, Hank Gremminger, Dave Hanner, Jerry Kramer, Ron Kramer, Max McGee, Ray Nitschke, Jim Ringo, Bob Skoronski, Bart Starr, John Symank, Jim Taylor, Jim Temp, Paul Winslow, More and Taylor.

Four were first draft choices—Bettis, R. Kramer, Currie and Moore — and one was the bonus selection, Hornung.

Jack suffered along with everybody when the Packers lost. He didn't show it many times because of being busy with all the details of moving the club after the game.

The Packers' two losses in five days were particularly hard to take. Last Friday afternoon, hardly 24 hours after the loss to Detroit Thanksgiving day, Jack looked up from his office desk and pointed upstairs to where the coaches were looking at game films, and whispered quietly:

Jack went back to his own work.

ST. OLAF: Last year the Oles finished in a tie for fifth with a squad composed largely of sophomores. Seven of the eight lettermen have at one time been starters. The key man is Karl Groth, an all-conference selection and holder of most of the individual St. Olaf scoring records. Junior center Ken Hokeness, unavailable last year because of a football injury, will provide help where it is most needed.

GRINNELL: John Pfitsch has only six lettermen, but four of these were 1959-1960 regulars. The big problem is to replace center Bill McClintock, a mainstay for three years; at present no replacement is in sight. There are no outstanding sophomores. If the height problem is not too serious, the Pioneers, with the advantage of experience, should give a good account of themselves.

LAWRENCE: The Vikings have improved steadily under Don Boya and hope to improve still further. The nucleus of the squad is a quartet of two-year veterans—honorable mention guards Jim Schulze and Chuck Knoke and forward-centers Joe Lamer and Jim Rasmussen. With Loren Wolfe, who averaged over thirteen points after joining the squad at midyear the Vikes have a veteran starting quintet. Size is the biggest handicap, with lack of speed as secondary problem.

RIPON: Doc Weiske lost no one from the squad that finished the 1959-1960 season. Last year in-

State Apprentice Program Falls Short

Commission Asks Funds to Bring Supply in Line With Present Need

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The reasons why trade apprenticeship in Wisconsin is lagging and threatening a serious shortage of skilled workmen were explained Monday by an official of the state industrial commission, as Gov. Gaylord Nelson started biennial budget hearings by examining the services of the commission.

Reuben Knutson, acting head of the agency, told Nelson that a combination of employer and union indifference toward apprentice recruitment and an abundance of high wage employment in other fields has dangerously reduced the number of apprenticeships.

There are now only about 5,000 indentured apprentices in the whole state, he said, although once there were 12,000 and that many could be used today. Nelson showed a keen interest in the subject as Knutson brought it up to justify the commission's request for more funds to permit an accelerated apprenticeship recruitment campaign.

Budget Increase
Knutson asked for a biennial budget for the department of $2,480,000, or an increase of more than 12 per cent above the present level of spending. Nelson was told that merely to sustain the present level of departmental activity would require an increase in funds of half that amount.

(Nelson is a veteran commissioner and a Republican hold-over whose ouster was attempted a year ago by Democratic Gov. Nelson, who was foiled in the attempt by the Republican state senate. Nelson had held that Knutson was over-age, but when the senate refused to confirm the new appointee he dropped the subject. Matt Schimenz, Nelson's choice as commission chairman, is absent from his desk due to illness.

In other highlights the industrial commission's budget proposal showed plans:

To expand the fair employment practices campaign run by one of its divisions.

Radiation Inspection
To establish a system of inspection of the use of radiation in Wisconsin industry as a protection for employees.

To enlarge the state employment service and the unemployment compensation division in anticipation of a possible business recession early in 1961 now forecast by some federal government economists.

To enlarge safety inspection of public buildings and places of employment.

To expand statistical reporting in Wisconsin industry to permit an improved factory safety effort.

Joe E. Nussbaum, commissioner of Administration and Nelson's budget officer, noted at one point in the discussions that the commission had difficulties in the past communicating its work-load problems to governor and legislators. He indicated that the department has been unable to keep pace with the industrial growth of the state because it has been held down by its personnel demands.

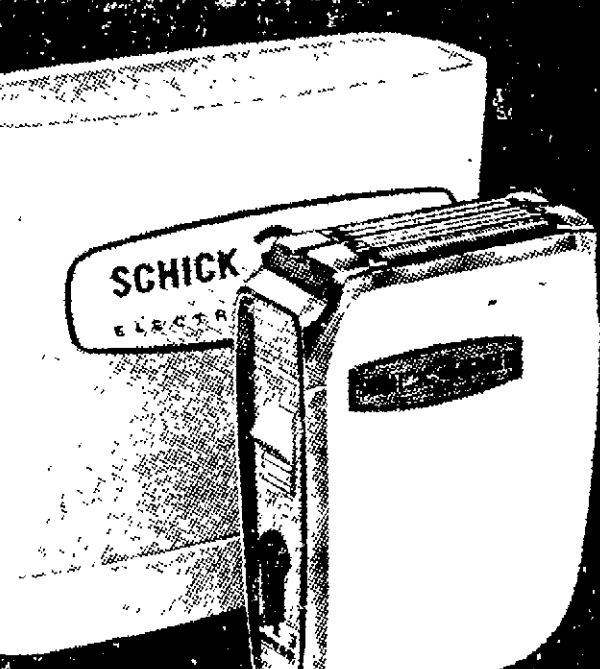

Plan Not Backed
Knutson said that some of the building trades unions are hostile to the idea of increasing the ratio of apprentices to journeymen, and that some employers are skeptical about the value of training apprentices because they cannot see a profit in it. An employer who indentures an apprentice for up to four years has no assurance of skill and speed are minimum. Bruce White, an all-conference nominee, heads the eight returnees.

Bobcats Won't Join IHL This Season

GREEN BAY (AP)—The independent Green Bay Bobcats are interested in joining the International Hockey League—but not this year.

The Bobcats voted unanimously against replacing the defunct Milwaukee Falcons Monday, but left the gate open for an IHL franchise next season.

Green Bay secretary-treasurer Charles Hannaway said the Bobcats felt it would not be good either for them or the IHL to join the league at this time.

"We would rather come in on our own feet," Hannaway said. "We still are interested in joining next fall."

Sound Thinking
Frank Gallagher, head of the IHL, said the Green Bay decision represented "good sound thinking" and indicated he favors bringing the Bobcats into the league in 1961.

After the Bobcats decision to remain independent, the IHL held a league meeting and voted to pay off the Milwaukee players and drop sponsorship of the club. The league took control last Wednesday after stockholders of the Falcons threw in the sponge because of heavy financial losses.

Green Bay, which has applied for an IHL franchise for the 1961-62 season, decided against joining the league now mainly because of contractual problems. The Bobcats have 25 home games left with various teams in Canada and Upper Michigan.

"We could call some of the teams and they would let us out," Hannaway said. "However, others would not and we would face the possibility of law suits."

Answer to Dairy Problem Offered

UW Professor Tells Congress Of Plan for Direct Management

BY FRANCIS MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — University of Wisconsin Professor Harlow V. Halvorson has told congress that positive steps must be taken to prevent low dairy prices for most of the next decade and recommended direct management of marketing supplies as one answer to the dairy problem of high production.

In a report released today by the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress, Halvorson pointed out that the Department of Agriculture has forecast a milk production in 1965 of about 140 billion pounds with prices averaging about $3.60 per hundred weight.

Looking toward future dairy prices, Halvorson said that federal programs in price support and milk marketing have prevented and probably would prevent the prices paid the dairy farmer from touching rock bottom. But he said that "the most logical and equitable administrative arrangement for keeping milk marketing from outrunning the growth in demand for the next few years seems to be that of assigning basic marketing quantities to each producer."

Manner of Operation
Halvorson has suggested that the direct management of market supplies be operated in this general manner:

The "base" for each individual producer would be figured on his average marketings during the past two or three years.

"Prior to the beginning of each marketing year a determination would be made of the national level of marketings consistent with the specified price goal," Halvorson explained. "A per cent of the national base could be determined and translated into a current marketing base for each producer."

He said that after the national marketing level had been determined, marketing certificates would be issued to each producer reflecting the approved per cent of base.

"Thus, if approved marketings were to be reduced two per cent below the national base, a farmer having a base of 1,000 hundred weight would be issued marketing certificates for 980 hundred weight of milk," he continued.

Fee or Penalty
These marketing certificates would be surrendered to milk handlers, and farmers selling milk in excess of his certificate would be docked a fee or penalty. These fees would then be turned over by the handler to the administrator of the program.

Fees, he said, could be figured on either "so many cents per hundred weight," or on the per cent of the current price. New producers, who had no "base" marketing figures for the past two or three years would be required to sell subject to fee.

He said the "most desirable arrangement would be to apply such a program to all producers of milk and its equivalent in farm-separated cream," as he believes "a supply management program for milk which distinguishes between fluid and manufacturing grade milk would tend to perpetuate the somewhat artificial nature of present regulatory practices."

If a market management plan were inaugurated, in 1965 the milk production might be 137.5 billion pounds, instead of an expected 140 billion, Halvorson estimated. This lower figure "would provide our larger population with a domestic per capita consumption approximately equal to that which prevailed during 1955-1957."

"Under these circumstances, milk prices might be 45 cents per hundred weight higher than those which would be likely with no formal restrictions on the growth of milk production," he said.

Analyzing the marketing production management plan so far as cost to the taxpayer is concerned, Halvorson contended that it would lower the purchase of products for price supports. Administration costs of the program might be larger than costs of operating present programs, but not when figured against storage costs.

"In view of the excess supply problem which will probably be present throughout the 1960's, present throughout the 1960's, such direct market supply-management programs may well be the only feasible means of holding present farm price levels, much less improving them, so that administrative costs may be incidental in relation to benefits received," Halvorson concluded.

Discuss Value Of Federal Aid

Assistance Director Says State Needs Study of Policy

Wisconsin's program for medical care for the aged and the relative value of federal legislation providing additional care for the aged were outlined Monday noon by Frank Fieschko, regional director of public assistance, Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare.

Fieschko told directors of the Appleton United Community Services Red Feather agencies that a policy on where the state wants to go in its medical care program must be formulated before a decision is made on whether federal medical aid should be incorporated into the state program.

Under new federal law, the states have a choice of devising a separate program or incorporating federal aid into an existing program.

Too Many Categories
Federal matching funds are identical to the state old age assistance program now in existence, Fieschko said. "The question is," he added, "would Wisconsin be better off under the existing program or under a new base?"

He said he felt there are too many aid categories now, and he would like to see a single category, with need as the basis.

Taking September as an average month and projecting it for a 12-month period, the state spends about $29.5 million a year on general public relief. Of this, the greatest share, about 71 per cent, is used for aid to the aged, he said. The rest is used for aid to the disabled, blind, and dependent children.

Rev. Ivan Hansen, Former Appleton Priest, Dies at 48

The Rev. Ivan Hansen, O.F.M., Cap. formerly of St. Joseph Catholic Church and of Monte Alverno Retreat House, died Monday in Detroit. He suffered from multiple sclerosis since 1955.

Father Hansen, born Jan. 31, 1912, in Milwaukee, was director of retreats at St. Fr. Hansen Lawrence Retreat House, St. Claire, Mich., when he died.

He was ordained at Marathon in 1938 and was assistant pastor of St. Joseph Church here until 1942, when he was transferred to Monte Alverno Retreat House, where he preached retreats until 1945.

After service in New York, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and other states, he returned to Monte Alverno as director of retreats in 1955. He has been at Michigan retreat houses since 1956.

Survivors include a brother and four sisters.

Farm Bureau Greet Gov. Nelson Warmly

State Chief Executive Talks of Agriculture, Not Politics, at Annual Family Dinner

Post-Crescent News Service
MADISON — Wisconsin's chief executive presumably isn't the Farm Bureau's favorite politician, but he was warmly applauded at the organization's state convention here Monday evening.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson turned the other cheek in his short speech, and the delegates enjoyed it.

"I want to congratulate your organization and you members for a great contribution to agriculture," the governor told the Farm Bureau. "It is good that we have dedicated organizations such as this."

The governor didn't refer to skirmishes he has had with the Farm Bureau and some of its most prominent leaders during his two years in office. The Farm Bureau was chiefly responsible for the shelving of Nelson's proposed agricultural marketing act.

Talks About Farming
Nelson, a guest at the Farm Bureau's annual farm family dinner, didn't talk politics. He talked about farming.

"Some people seem to think that farming is declining, but farming actually is becoming more important," he declared. "Agriculture is producing more food for more people with fewer farmers doing the work," he pointed out.

Nelson pointed out that the state in recent years has outdone even Iowa in the production of corn per acre, and that the dairy industry is making remarkable strides.

The convention was scheduled to tackle policy resolutions today.

Elections Set
A caucus late Monday afternoon apparently assured the reelection of William Ziebarth, Pulaski, as the state director from the North-eastern Wisconsin area. Eugene Nemitz, Kewaunee, was the other candidate for the three-year term.

Election of officers was scheduled late today. Percy Hardman, Hartland, was expected to go back as president.

Hardman, at the dinner, reported a net loss of 562 members for the state during the last year.

Couple Injured as Car Rams House After Wheel Locks

Two Appleton young people suffered minor injuries Sunday afternoon when the steering wheel on their car locked and the vehicle struck a house.

Janice Havel, 17, 1708 E. Randall Ave. and Duane Poth, 22, 2424 N. Mason St., were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend, for examination and X-rays, then released.

Relatives of Miss Havel said the accident occurred on Highway 57 east of West Bend, as the young people were on their way to Random Lake to visit Miss Havel's sister. They had visited friends in West Bend.

Poth, the driver, complained of pains in his arm. Miss Havel suffered a knee injury and bruises. The corner of the house was damaged.

Chicago Youth Bound Over on Theft Charges

Accused of Taking Deer, Rifles, Radios In New London, Area

WAUPACA — Jerome E. Wilhelmson, 19, Chicago, was bound over to Circuit Court Monday for trial on two counts of theft. Police Justice George Whalen set bond at $1,000.

Wilhelmson also faces a hearing in Appleton today on another theft charge.

Wilhelmson was arrested Wednesday night after he and Adolph Krueger, 56, Chicago, refused conservation wardens permission to search their car for a deer stolen in Antigo. Krueger fled during questioning and is being sought by Wisconsin and Chicago police.

Clintonville Police Chief James Beggs read a statement by Wilhelmson admitting theft of the deer, cartons of cigarettes, a hat and coat, several new and used radios, two rifles and two shotguns from Appleton, Hortonville, New London, Clintonville and Antigo.

Left Chicago
The confession stated Wilhelmson and Krueger left Chicago Wednesday morning to hunt in Wisconsin.

En route Krueger suggested they go on a shop lifting spree because he had heard how easy it was, and because it would be "a good way to get the things you've always wanted," the confession stated.

The pair stole several cartons of cigarettes and other articles which the youth said he could not remember. They also took several new radios from a New London hardware store and some used radios from an Appleton store, it said.

The statement said the pair then went to Clintonville where they took the hat and coat belonging to Lester M. Michaelis, 62, New York City, a clothing salesman, who had been eating at the Hotel Marson.

Krueger and the youth then went to Antigo where they stole the deer from the trunk of a car parked at a service station, the confession said, and turned around toward Clintonville when they were stopped at a conservation department deer check.

Michaelis testified during the hearing that his hat and coat were missing after he finished his supper but were later returned by the police. He said the hat cost $20 and the coat, $125.

Unceased Gun
Wilhelmson is charged with stealing the hat and coat from the hotel and four radios from New London in Waupaca County and with stealing a shotgun and two radios in Outagamie County.

Wilhelmson has posted $150 bond on conservation charges that he carried an unceased gun in his car and stole the deer.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson suggested the bail, which Friday had been set at $5,000, be lowered to $1,000.

Faces Charge of Attempted Murder

MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP)—A 53-year old Eau Claire man Monday was bound over for trial in Circuit Court on a charge of attempted murder in the shooting of Lee Buhlman, 58, a creamery operator.

Lloyd Webb is accused of shooting Buhlman following an argument last Thursday. Buhlman has returned to his home after being hospitalized with two bullet wounds.

Webb was unable to post $5,000 bond and was returned to the Dunn County Jail.

State Health Board Would Increase Fees

MADISON (AP)—The State Board of Health said Monday that Wisconsin could collect an additional $201,000 in revenue annually by boosting fees for inspecting hotels, restaurants and tourist homes.

The agency made the statement as it filed its 1961-63 budget requests with Gov. Gaylord Nelson. The board of health asked for a total of $12,127,979, with $5,442,332 coming from state appropriations. The remainder is raised from licensing, inspection and examination fees.

Requests from state agencies total a record $532,868,671, a sum $118,161,227 higher than for the current fiscal period.

Dr. Carl N. Neupert, state health officer, said the present fees for inspecting the public places were set in 1953 and examination fees for plumbers in 1948, for which he also recommended an increase.

Tourist homes and hotels with less than 30 rooms now pay a $5 annual inspection fee, and the larger hotels and restaurants $10. A master plumber's license costs $25, a journeyman's license $5, a master plumber's examination fee $25 and a journeyman's examination fee $5.

Pieping Delegation Arrives in Havana

HAVANA (AP) — A five-man Pieping delegation arrived Monday to establish Red China's first embassy in the Western Hemisphere. The group was headed by Charge d'Affaires Huang Wen Yu, Cuba's first ambassador to Communist China, Oscar Pino Santos, already has taken up residence in Pieping.

Changes Asked In Bylaws of School Board

Will Act. Dec. 12 On Agenda Revision, Other Alterations

The Appleton Board of Education will act Dec. 12 on proposed changes in its bylaws, including a new order of business and changes of wording.

Franklin L. Nehs, Victor Sun-nich and Edward V. Krueger proposed that "communications" be dropped from the agenda, because many letters require board action which comes under other business. Delegations should be heard early in the meeting, they said.

They recommended that "presentation of bills, monthly reports and requisitions" and "report of business director" be omitted and instead that the superintendent's report include fiscal as well as personnel and curriculum matters.

Distribution of minutes to board members "at least three days before publication" should be left out, the revision committee said, because minutes are not published until approved by the board anyway.

The committee also made three suggestions for future consideration:

1. That visitors at board meetings be asked to register their names and what group, if any, they represent.
2. That a new seating arrangement for the board be made.
3. That a code of ethics be included in the handbook of board and administrative policies.

Alderman Denies Several Charges

GREEN BAY — A plea of innocent was entered Monday for Alderman Ray Guerts of the city's 19th Ward to charges of creating a disturbance, drunkenness, arterial violation and driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

Guerts was held in jail only a few hours after his arrest early Saturday and was released on his own recognizance. Trial was set for Dec. 14.

Authorities said Guerts was charged when he went to police headquarters to complain about alleged illegal parking.

Your Money's Worth

Food Prices Low, Grocer Maintains

BY SYLVIA PORTER

When the cost of living is discussed, the "price spread" between what the farmer gets and what you pay at the grocery store is likely to be a target. But can this "spread" be narrowed to improve the food cost picture?

Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., has answers in today's interview.

Q. PORTER: Why does the farmer get only 40 cents of the food dollar I spend at my supermarket?

A. WILLIS: This question on the "price spread" puzzles many people. The "price spread" or the 60-cent difference between what the farmer gets and what you, the consumer, pay, covers assembly of products from many farms, transportation, all the processing functions such as canning, freezing, pickling, packaging, storage — more transportation, warehousing, wholesaling, and then more transportation to your grocer — and finally the retailing costs. It also includes the cost of selling, research, and depreciation and many other expenses incurred by food manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

Q. Isn't 60 cents of the food dollar too much for the price spread?

A. The spread is remarkably low in view of the rapid increase in rates for wages, taxes and transportation. These are the cost factors which make up most of the spread. Moreover, the services for which the spread pays are a tribute to America's mass production and mass distribution system. Without "price spread" your steak would be another steer on a Western range, macaroni would be durum wheat in the Dakota plains, cheese would be milk in a Wisconsin farmer's pail. Without spread the farmer would be virtually out of business.

Q. But the farmer is getting fewer of my food dollars now than he did in 1946.

British Have Better System Of Election

U. S. Needs Plan For Continuity Of Government

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Throughout the country—judging by letters received—there is a feeling of dissatisfaction over the manner in which Presidents are chosen. It isn't new—something of the same kind of criticism has been heard before—but it is given added momentum because of the closeness of the recent election.

Curiously, enough, the reasons for the criticism seem to center on the electoral college formula—the fact that a narrow majority vote within a state can give the entire electoral vote to a particular candidate. But there is something deeper and far more important that's wrong with the present system of choosing Presidents. It has not been so successful in that the voters at large do not familiarize themselves with the candidates. The fault there, however, is not in the system but in knowledge of the capacity of the candidates to discharge the duties of the high office of President. Millions of persons on November 8 last apparently voted their likes or dislikes of a certain facial expression or image on the TV. Millions of others were swayed by feelings engendered by the controversy over the religious issue. Still others voted their dissatisfaction with economic conditions as related to their particular lives. How many really grasped the fundamental issues involved in the election of a President of the United States?

With the continuing growth of America's population, the problem of choosing a President is going to be more and more challenging.

Parliament
The nominating conventions themselves have not proved satisfactory, and every four years there is repeated criticism in cliques and pressure groups actually select the nominees. As for the national platforms adopted by the respective parties, the country is already being told by leading Democrats that these pronouncements of last summer were of no consequence.

How, then, can responsibility be fixed and a political party or a leadership be held accountable to the people? Any change, of course, would have to be made by constitutional amendment.

For many years a school of thought in this country has advocated the so-called parliamentary system which has been successful in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, as well as Great Britain. It has not been so successful in that the voters at large do not familiarize themselves with the candidates. The fault there, however, is not in the system but in knowledge of the capacity of the candidates to discharge the duties of the high office of President.

As America's population grows in the next 50 years, probably to a height of 500,000,000 people, the question will arise as to whether a so-called "pure democracy" or a "mobocracy" will ever choose a President from the most talented leaders available. What is most important is that the voters shall have an opportunity to place their confidence in some leader known in their own community, as is done to a large extent under the parliamentary system. If all the 437 members of the U.S. House of Representatives and the 100 senators together were to elect one of their own number as president by a majority vote, there would be a better opportunity to designate the most experienced legislator and ablest executive for the highest office in the land. He would be the party leader who, by reason of training and experience, became the logical choice for President.

Continuous Training
Under the British parliamentary system, a majority of the Parliament selects the Prime Minister, who combines executive as well as legislative duties. This avoids any setup such as America has experienced in recent years in what is known as "divided government"—when one party controls the legislature and the other is in charge of the executive branch of the government.

The opposition party, moreover, is on notice constantly that it might any day take over leadership. Thus there is a continuous process of training for the Cabinet portfolios. In Britain, for example, a so-called "shadow Cabinet" is always chosen by the opposition party and keeps in touch with the executive department all the time, so that the reins of government can be taken over at any moment.

Unquestionably, the people of the United States would want to modify the British or Canadian parliamentary systems somewhat to conform to American traditions. It might be stipulated, for example, that no change in government should take place in less than two years after an election might be required that a two-thirds vote of one House and a majority vote of the other should be necessary to remove a President from power, or that a general election would be called only if a certain percentage votes of both houses were recorded against the administration in power.

What America lacks today is a system that provides for continuity in government, with a trained personnel that has become familiar with the problems of government. To choose a President by popular vote sounds, theoretically, desirable, but the indirect system, whereby the people choose their members of Congress carefully and they in turn pick the President, would, in the end, provide more stability to the whole governmental process.

Smiles at Human Foibles

Archbishop of Canterbury Man of Happy Wit, Complicated Character

LONDON (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury, stately and severe in his mitre and scarlet robes, is a man of happy wit.

British churchmen are sure that when the Archbishop makes his visit to Pope John XXIII in Rome Friday, the head of the Roman Catholic Church will get an insight into this homely, earthy aspect of the archbishop's complicated character.

They should have a pleasant meeting. Both men, of highest religious stations, are able to smile at human foibles, and to puncture compositities with a light word.

The Archbishop, gaithered, 73-year-old Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, a spiritual leader to 40 million Anglicans living around the world, has said repeatedly that his unusual visit to the Vatican will be a courtesy call.

Human Occasion
So it will be a human occasion, rather than an ecclesiastical conference. Politeness will be the agenda, rather than religious politics.

The Archbishop, who prays for Christian unity, has cautioned against expectations that the meeting in Rome will lead to sensational or immediate consequences. Most churchmen here doubt that Christian unity is just around the corner. But two men vitally concerned will have a chat.

In affairs of the Anglican church and the British state the Archbishop plays a dominant role, often behind the scenes, and he is a personality of great dignity. But, as he goes around puncturing pomposity, he does not spare himself.

The Difference
Asked once to explain what the Lambeth conference was all about, he said:

"It is a meeting of 350-odd bishops from all over the world, and some people think the emphasis should be on the word 'odd'."

Chatting with American comedian Danny Kaye he said: "The difference between us is that you are funny intentional."

But then, in his official capacity, the Archbishop thunders with final religious authority—against divorce, against public immorality, against faulty doctrine, and often against attitudes and practices of the Roman Catholic Church. He is a master of the historical record.

The Archbishop is head of a world spanning administrative machine. He is chairman of the Church Commission, which administers properties worth many millions of pounds that provide the basic revenue of the Anglican Church. Its latest achievement was to buy a great block of British Ford stock when the market was right.

His Salary
The Archbishop's salary is $21,000 a year, on which he pays taxes. He lives in what outwardly would seem to be stately grandeur in Lambeth Palace, beside the river in London. The palace, setting of many religious conferences, has 140 rooms. But the archbishop and his family—he has six grown sons—occupy only six rooms. He has no television set, says that if he became an addict he might not know when to turn off the machine.

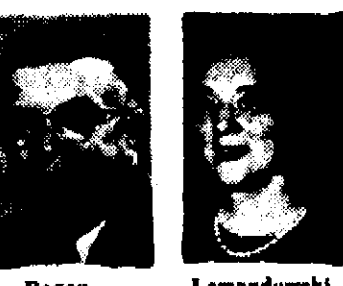

Much more than the Pope, the Archbishop of Canterbury is a figure of controversy. Politicians and the press, often assail him with no punches pulled. But he is acknowledged a leader in the world of the spirit. All concede he has great ability as an administrator, and as a forceful leader of all church enterprises.

tra conductor on the old interurban street car line. He later became a meter reader and now is a polyphase tester and installer. In 1947 he was vice-chief of the company's veterans' organization, composed of employees with 20 or more years service. He is also past president of the Utility's Employees' Mutual Benefit Association.

Bogan is Appleton's 20th Ward alderman. He has served 10 terms as alderman, more than any other present council member. He is the only man to be president of the council twice. He is chairman of the recreational committee.

Miss Lewandowski started with the power company in 1920 as a clerk in the accounting department. She is senior clerk in charge of central files. She has been a member of the company's first aid team and performed in many promotional skits.

Miss Lewandowski and Bogan will be honored at a banquet in December, when they will be presented with gold watches.

DeDecker, Appleton, is host dealer and handled seminar arrangements.
